SMALL MILL GIRL COMPLAINS OF LAW

That Prevents Her From Playing the Role of Little Mother—A Problem for School Authorities

A letter addressed to The Sun by a fourteen-year-old girl suggests the complications which will be brought about in this city by the new law which prohibits the employment in factories of children, between the ages of 14 and 16 years, more than eight hours a day. The letter:

Dear Editor:

I am fourteen years of age and have graduated from the grammar school, and now I am working in the mill. I am the oldest one of five and my father is of no assistance to me. I think it is shame that I am not to be allowed to work more than 45 hours a week. I am willing to go to evening school and graduate from evening school. Will you please put this in your paper? (Signed) M. E. F. R.

Our correspondent is evidently an ambitious little girl who is anxious to support her four little brothers and sisters. The very sad part of her letter is contained in her reference to her father. It may be that some way will be found to help this little bread earner, whose whole life and soul is wrapped up in her little brothers and sisters; this little mother who wants to work more than forty-eight hours a week and attend evening school.

Many Children Discharged

Already the new law has caused the discharge of many children in the mills because of the inability of the mill superintendents to adjust the working time to agree with the law. Many mill bosses, it is stated, are planning to hire a man in place of two children so that the departments can run on full time.

Another difficulty will have to be faced by the school department. The high school is already pretty well crowded, but it will receive a tremendous influx this September on account of this new law unless the mills find some means of employing children.

Are Forced to Wait

The average age of boys and girls graduating from the grammar school, like our correspondent, is 13 and 14 years. Many of them went to work after graduation, but now they may be forced to wait until they are sixteen and the result will be that the majority of them will enter the high school, causing the freshman class to be a very large one.

Again the children who entered the high school at 13 years of age, to remain one year until they would be able to go to work, will now continue their studies, and thus the sophomore class will not be reduced as has happened in former years. The school department will probably have to take measures to provide more rooms and perhaps more teachers this fall.

BOARD OF TRADE OUTING

Plans are now completed for the annual outing of the boards of trade of Greater Lowell, which is to be held at the Boston & Maine car shops in No. Billerica tomorrow.

The members of the boards of trade of this city and the surrounding towns will be the first to inspect the shops and the outing is in the nature of an informal dedication of the nearly completed plant.

The whole afternoon will be spent at the shops. Upon the arrival of the special train at the grounds, dinner will be served in the large storehouse which will accommodate thousands of people. It is expected that many will drive to the site in automobiles.

At the dinner President George M. Harrigan will preside and there will be several speakers among them Franklin F. Irwin, special engineer who had charge of the entire construction work, William F. Ray and Congressman John Jacob Rogers. Several other railroad men will be present as well as several men from out of town.

The visitors will be shown, through the entire plant by the railroad officials and it is expected that the afternoon spent at the Boston & Maine car shops will be an enjoyable one for the members of the Lowell board of trade and others who attend.

ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER HELD

Man Arrested in This City Was Arraigned in Boston Today

Held in $1000 for Aug. 20—Sent to Jail in Default of Bonds

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Miltades Katsumakes, arrested in Lowell yesterday on a charge of violating the white slave law, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes at the federal building today and held in $1000 bonds for August 20. He was sent to the East Cambridge jail in default of bonds.

A Sample of Efficiency

People who had occasion to go to the farther end of Rogers street this afternoon where the macadam road is being rebuilt, were treated to a fine exhibition of efficiency in road building. Six men with picks were tearing up the old macadam road and nearby was a steam roller with steam up and the engineer sitting by the roadside waiting for something to do. The road roller with spikes inserted could tear up as much of that macadam road in one hour as the six men with picks could do in a week, but those in charge probably didn't know it and if they did they were very likely interested in providing jobs for six men and one engineer. The majority of people who rode by on the cars were of the opinion that this was a splendid method as it furnished work for the men and helped to increase the tax rate, but to people of ordinary intelligence it looked as if the seven men might be worked to better advantage. The six men wielding the picks could be put to work doing something that steam rollers cannot do while the engineer with the steam roller could rip up the road in five time. The result would be more work done on the road and more rapid construction of highways for a long suffering public and seven men would be just as well off. But what's the odds? The fool public pays the bill so cheerfully.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The impeachment of Governor Sulzer by the assembly early today, has raised a vital question as to whether, under the constitution, the governor will cacate his office pending final adjudication of the impeachment issue by the senate and court of appeals, sitting jointly as a trial court.

The indications are that Mr. Sulzer will contest the theory of the opposition that he becomes automatically barred from exercising the functions of the office the moment the articles of impeachment are formally presented to the senate and that he will be disqualified from resuming the duties of executive until the court of impeachment fails to sustain these charges.

This contention was given emphatic public utterance today by Judge Lynn J. Arnold, one of the governor's counsel. Judge Arnold called on the governor soon after he reached the capitol today, following by a few minutes Judge D'Arcy Herrick of counsel for the executive.

Word was sent out to the waiting newspaper men that the governor probably would have nothing to say during the day. When Chester C. Platt, secretary to the governor, was asked if any progress had been made in formulating the governor's legal program he answered: "None that we care to speak of at this time."

Fine Morning, Said Sulzer

The governor reached the capitol shortly after 11 o'clock. He smiled cheerily to correspondents who greeted him as he mounted the steps of the capitol, and posed coolly before a battery of camera men. "It's a fine morning, gentlemen," he said.

Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn came into Albany from his summer home at Cedar Hill during the forenoon and went to his newspaper offices as usual. He declined to comment on the situation.

The fact that the various state departments and bureaus are divided in their allegiance to the executive and the democratic organization which is seeking to depose him stimulates interest in the complicated situation. The possibility of two men endeavoring to discharge the functions of the chief executive at the same time suggests a condition that the courts alone would have power to deal with.

Governor Sulzer, according to a close friend, already has flustered with the advice of his counsel, a letter embodying his reasons for refusing to turn over his office to Mr. Glynn in anticipation of such a demand immediately following official reception of the articles of impeachment by the senate. In addition to counsel now in the city, Austin G. Fox is reported to have been summoned from New York. The senate was not expected to meet until late in the afternoon.

GOV. SULZER IMPEACHED DESPITE ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT OF WIFE TO SAVE HIM

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Governor William Sulzer was impeached at 5.15 o'clock this morning by the democratic majority in the assembly of the New York legislature after an all-night session and after his wife had made an eleventh hour effort to save him at the risk of sacrificing her own reputation.

Organization leaders who had sparred for time all night in the fear that their program of impeachment would be wrecked by lack of votes welcomed newcomers to the assembly chamber during the early hours and, assured of victory by their presence, proceeded to the adoption of impeachment resolution, the vote standing 79 to 45.

BALL GAME CALLED OFF

But Lowell Police Win Just the Same

The game scheduled for today on the South common between the Lowell cops and the Quincy guardians of law and order was called unexpectedly. It is reported that the pitcher of the victors was badly bitten yesterday by a dog which it is feared had the rabies. According to the rules governing the police league a team must notify its opponent a day ahead in order to postpone a game and as this was not done today Lowell was declared the winner by the score of 9 to 0. Several hundred fans were greatly disappointed when the game was called off. Lowell jumps into first place by today's forfeit.

Tired of Life in Haverhill—Turned on Gas and Took Poison—Is Dying in Hospital

Mabel Keyes, a beautiful Springfield girl, who was registered at the Y. W. C. A. in this city not long ago, is dying of poison and gas fumes at the City hospital in Haverhill.

While waiting for the poison which she had swallowed to overcome her, and in order to make certain of her self-destruction, the unfortunate girl turned on the gas in her room at the Young Women's Christian Association, in that city, yesterday.

Little is known about the girl either in this city or in Haverhill, but that she intended suicide is indicated in a farewell note found in her room unsealed. It was addressed to Mrs. Cheney, at West Dudley, apparently a relative, in which she stated that she would be at rest before night. Another letter addressed to Mrs. Keyes, and evidently her mother, was also found, but it was sealed and has not been opened.

When the doctor, who had been summoned by the Y. W. C. A. in Haverhill, reached Miss Keyes, it was discovered that in addition to the gas the girl was suffering from the effects of four corrosive sublimate tablets, which she had dissolved in an ounce of water and then swallowed so that the work which the gas failed to do was left to the drug to accomplish.

Was Here Two Weeks Ago

Miss Keyes went to Haverhill from the Y. W. C. A. in this city. She had indicated that she was despondent because of her failure to obtain work, but so far as is known, she did not seek employment here. The Sun, this morning, made inquiry at the local Y. W. C. A. and found that Mabel Keyes had spent two nights there, July 25 and 26. A young woman with whom she talked quite freely at the association rooms in John street, said that Miss Keyes did not mention anything about employment and did not seem at all despondent.

The Haverhill Story

The following story of the tragedy is from the Haverhill Gazette:

Miss Keyes was abroad reasonably early yesterday morning and had breakfast. She afterward telephoned to someone in the city, but officials at the home do not know whether she sent a farewell message to a friend or made a last appeal for employment. That message was sent at about 8 o'clock.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Miss Charlette M. Minott, matron at the home, visited the Hoen closet which is next adjoining the room occupied by Miss Keyes and the odor of gas attracted her attention. She traced it to Miss Keyes' room and found the door unlocked. Entering she was nearly overcome by the gas fumes but quickly sized up the situation—that the room was filled with gas and that the young woman lay stretched on the floor, unconscious. Summoning aid, Miss Minott sent out several calls for physicians, but it was at a time when the physicians were on their morning visits.

Among those who responded to the first call for assistance was Miss Margaret McLaughlin, a trained nurse who lives at the Y. W. C. A. and her practiced eye determined the seriousness of the case.

Hox and Glass Told Story

When several efforts to connect with a physician had failed, a messenger was despatched to Emerson street and while telephones were ringing in other offices the messenger was visiting those on Emerson street, and she arrived in season to find Dr. Serrice Bartlett in her office. The doctor responded and took charge of the case at the Y. W. C. A., giving first attention to resuscitation from the illuminating gas which was thought to be the cause of insensibility.

The patient responded to Dr. Bartlett's treatment but then it was discovered that she was suffering from poison.

A tablet box and a small medicine glass told the story of the taking of the poison—four corrosive sublimate tablets in an ounce of water and they had been at their work for more than two hours.

Dr. Bartlett ordered the patient's commitment to the hospital and a short time later when Drs. F. W. Anthony and H. L. Conner arrived, they concurred in the belief that the case was serious enough to require hospital treatment. Miss Keyes was taken in the police ambulance to the City hospital.

Grain Elevator and Two Tenement House Destroyed

BELMONT, N. H., Aug. 13.—A grain elevator owned by John R. Dearborn and a double tenement house of Mrs. A. A. Smith were destroyed by fire today. One occupant of the house escaped by jumping from a second story window with an infant in his arms.

When the blaze was discovered the fire was well under way and the firemen could do little more than check its spread. Several other buildings caught fire but were not badly damaged.

The loss on the elevator and its contents is estimated at $18,000 and on the dwelling at about $3000. The two families occupying the house lost furniture valued at upwards of $1000.

BARRETT'S EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Are Worrying Mr. Brown and He Wants Them Itemized — Mr. Barrett Entertains at Times

Commissioner Brown in order to show that he meant business when at yesterday's meeting he referred to certain expense accounts filed in his department by Com. Barrett during the years of 1912 and 1913, called the newspapermen into his office at the close of the meeting and submitted the following figures for inspection:

January, fire, $3.50; water, $3.75; Feb. water, $14.25; fire, $4.25; March water, $6.50; fire, $6.70; April, fire, $5.50; water, $5.40; May, fire, $10.55; water, $3.60; June, fire, $6.65; water, $7.75; July, fire, $17.50; water, $15.40; Aug. fire, $17.50; water, $15.40; Sept. fire, $15.50; water, $15.50; Oct. fire, $5.40; water, $11.60; Nov. water, $15.00; Dec. water, $12.00.

1913: Jan. water, $14.75; fire, $12.00; Feb. fire, $11.00; water, $15.00; March, fire, $10.00; water, $14.00; April, fire, $14.00; water, $15.35; May, fire, $17.50; water, $13.25; June, fire, $10.55; water, $15.35.

"These," he said, "are figures which appear on bills filed by Mr. Barrett and on which it is stated 'out-of-town expenses.' I will not accept any more of these bills," continued Mr. Brown, "unless they are itemized."

Barrett, who has been properly marked, now it is up to him to do the same with these "out-of-town" accounts.

Asked if he had anything to say on the matter, Mr. Barrett made the following statement: "I am willing at any time to supply the council with an itemized list of my expenses, but not Mr. Brown. This is purely an attempt on his part to throw cold water on my coming election. For if it was not he would have mentioned this before, inasmuch as he says I have been gone from these bills for the past two years. Why does the commissioner come with such a statement at the last minute, instead of several months ago?"

"My work in taking care of both the fire and water departments calls me out of town on several occasions and that means expenses. It is also often that I entertain engineers and other men in my line from out of town, and it is only natural that the city pay the expenses, especially when it has to do with the good of the departments. I have no account that I could immediately produce, but I can say that any expenditure on my part can at any time be accounted for. As I said I am willing at any time to file an itemized account with the council, but not with Mr. Brown."

Those Record Vaults

Commissioner Cummings of the public building department has sent a communication to Chairman Levy S. Gould of the county commissioners, and Henry Woods, state keeper of records, to the effect that the steel vaults for the keeping of records in the police station are nearing completion, and if it is then pleasure to come and examine the said vaults he will be pleased to show them around.

Fire Insurance Rates

Commissioner Barrett of the fire and water departments is endeavoring to have the fire insurance rates reduced in Lowell and accordingly he is to take the matter up with the Lowell board of trade. Inasmuch as the commissioner is anxious to look into this matter as quickly as possible with his brethren of the board of trade, he has sent the following communication to the secretary of the board, Mr. John H. Murphy:

Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary, Lowell Board of Trade, Lowell:

Dear Sir:

Having recently been appointed a member of the committee on insurance and fire protection, it seems advisable to me that a meeting of that committee should be called at an early date in order that we may consider the matter of fire insurance rates in the city of Lowell.

Will you kindly attend to this at your earliest convenience, and oblige.

Very truly yours,

Andrew E. Barrett,

Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Protection.

Are little Johnnie and little Susie attending school in a sanitary class room? Are they spending too many hours in school? Are they hindered by germs of diphtheria or scarlet fever? Are they given plenty of fresh air? Are they given good drinking water? Are they given proper rest rooms and suitable vacations? Are they suffering from poor eyesight, bad breathing apparatus and defective hearing? These are a few of the questions to which the educators of today are giving a large amount of attention and which will be taken up at Buffalo by experts from all over the world. Altogether six days will be devoted to the congress, and over 300 speakers will tell the results of their experience and observations and make known the best methods at hand for improving the health and efficiency of school children. For the purpose of defraying the expenses of the congress the citizens of Buffalo have contributed $75,000. ALLEGED WHITE SLAVER

Lowell Police Turn Man Over to Officers

The local police department, especially Superintendent Redmond Welch, were highly complimented by United States Marshals Cameron and Heintz of Boston, on the recent arrest of Miltades Kutsumakos, alias James Brown, who will be arraigned in the United States court on a charge of violating the white slave act. The prisoner was handed over to the two officers yesterday and taken to Boston, where the case will be called. The young woman, who was arrested with Kutsumakos, is detained as an important witness by the government officers, but she will be let free as soon as the case is over, for her case in the local court was placed on file.

Kutsumakos and his companion, who gave the name of Ethel Hight, were arrested in the house numbered 27 Kirk street in a raid made by the local police headed by Supt. Welch on the evening of Aug. 2. The man was arraigned in court on a charge of conducting a disorderly house, and he was given the extreme penalty of the law, two years in the house of correction, from which sentence he appealed. The young woman, who belonged to a good family, had her case placed on file.

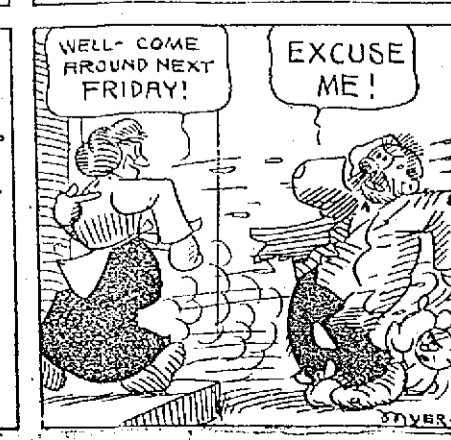

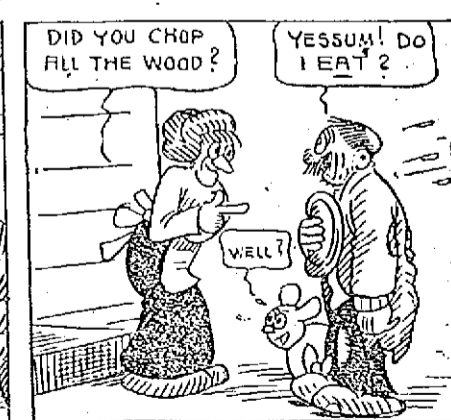

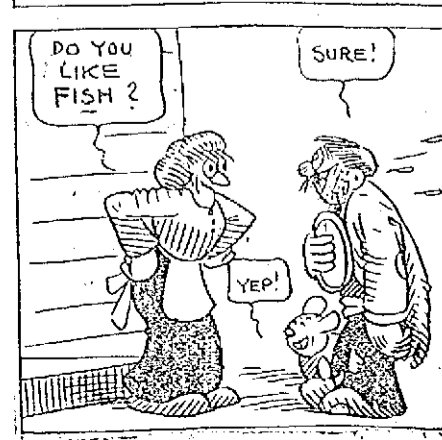

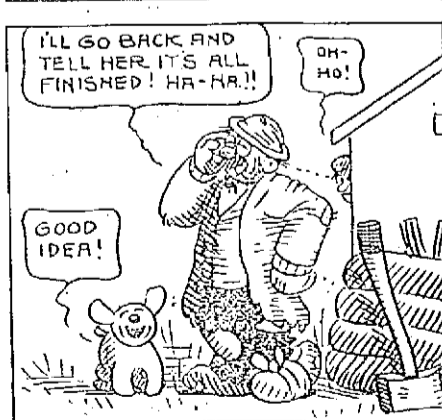

This morning Kutsumakos was brought to court on a habeas and withdrew his appeal, his sentence was revoked, and the prisoner was turned over to the United States marshals. The police were highly complimented by the U. S. officers for arresting this man, for when they heard the circumstances of the case, they thought it to be one of the most pronounced violations of the slave act that was ever brought to their attention. The officers said the local police have furnished the U. S. courts with two of the most glaring instances yet to come to their attention, the other case being that of Richards, who yesterday was held under $10,000 bonds by Judge Morton in the U. S. court at Boston.

Two Counts Against Him

Kutsumakos will be charged with two counts of violation of the white slave act, the extreme penalty of which is 10 years. The couple were arrested in a house opposite the high school, which had been under the surveillance of the police for the past few weeks. Two other women were arrested from this house and they were both sentenced to the state farm.

Supt. Welch, who is more or less responsible for the arrest of Richards and Kutsumakos, said this afternoon he will not tolerate any white slave in this city, and he believes the city is well rid of these law breakers.

EXCUSE ME!

STUDY PROBLEM OF RURAL CREDITS

Pres. Wilson Issued Statement Before Caucus Resumed Consideration of Currency Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Wilson issued a statement before the democratic house caucus resumed consideration of the administration currency bill today, announcing that he believed it not advisable to amend the measure at present with provisions for rural credits but to postpone that phase of banking reform until the December session, when the government commission now studying the subject in Europe will have reported.

"Again and again during the discussion of the currency bill it has been urged that special provision should be made in it for the facilitation of such credits as the farmers of the country most stand in need of—agricultural credit as distinguished from ordinary commercial and industrial credits.

"Such proposals were not adopted because such credits could be only imperfectly provided for in such a measure. The scope and character of the bill, its immediate and chief purpose, could not be made to reach as far as the special interests of the farmer requirements.

Service to Whole Country

"Special machinery and a distinct system of banking must be provided for if rural credits are to be successfully and adequately supplied. A government commission is now in Europe studying the interesting and highly successful methods which have been employed in several countries of the old world, and its report will be made to congress at a regular session next winter. It is confidently to be expected that the congress will at that session act upon the recommendations of that report and establish a complete and adequate system of rural credits. There is no subject so important to the welfare of the industrial development of the United States; there is no reform in which I would myself feel it a greater honor or privilege to take part, because I should feel that it was a service to the whole country of the first magnitude and significance. It should have accompanied and gone hand in hand with the reform of our banking and currency system if we had been ready to act wisely and with full knowledge of what we were about.

Neglected Disadvantages

"There has been too little federal legislation framed to serve the farmer directly and with a deliberate adjustment to his real needs. We long ago fell into the habit of assuming that the farmers of America enjoyed such an immense natural advantage over the farmers of the rest of the world, were so intelligent and enterprising and so at ease upon the incomparable soils of our great continent, that they could feed the world and prosper on matter what handicap they carried no matter what disadvantage, whether of the law or of natural circumstances they labored under. We have not exaggerated their capacity or their opportunity, but we have neglected to analyze the burdensome disadvantages from which they were suffering and have too often failed to remove them when we did see what they were.

"Our farmers must have means afforded them of handling their financial needs, easily and inexpensively. They should be furnished these facilities before their enterprises languish, not afterward.

"And they will be. This is our next great task and duty. Not only is a government commission about to report, which is charged with apprising the congress of the best methods employed in this matter but the department of agriculture has also undertaken a serious and systematic study of the whole problem of rural credits. The congress and the executive, working together will certainly afford the needed machinery of relief and prosperity to the people of the country—sides and that very soon."

TO ATTACK AMERICAN INTERESTS

Alleged to be Concerned in Revolutionary Activities in Mexico—Report of Special Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Certain American interests alleged to be concerned in revolutionary activities in Mexico will be attacked by the report of the special senate committee which investigated conditions along the border. Senator Smith of Michigan, chairman, laid out an outline today before the committee on foreign relations, indicating the report would deal particularly with activities of American representatives of the revolutionists and the aid they are reported to have received from the American side of the border in the Madero uprising and succeeding revolutions.

A conference between President Wilson and the house committee on foreign affairs will be held soon.

JAPANESE PRESS COMMENTS ON REQUEST TO POSTPONE VISIT OF GEN. DIAZ

TOKYO, Japan, Aug. 13.—The Japanese press, commenting today on Japan's request to Mexico to postpone the visit of General Felix Diaz on account of the absence of the emperor at Nikko, expresses the opinion that it was feared the visit might prove embarrassing and was liable to be made the basis of an anti-American demonstration. It was for this reason the visit was put off.

DESPATCHES CONCERNING DEFEAT OF REBELS SAYS 3200 REBELS WERE KILLED

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 13.—Late official despatches arriving here concerning the defeat of the rebels at Torreon and the lifting of the siege there, say that 3200 rebels were killed. The reports say that a large number of those reported as killed were executed.

The third day of the fighting there was an uprising in the town involving a number of local officials. The troops, however, gained the upper hand and wiped out the mob with machine guns and rifle fire and by arresting and putting to death a large number of persons. The mob used dynamite bombs against the troops.

Outside the city the rebels redoubled their efforts to capture the place and at one time sent a dynamite laden train against it. The train, however, was derailed some distance out from the town. The reports say the rebels have abandoned their attack on Torreon and are moving southward and westward toward the state of Zacatecas and Durango.

JOHN M'MANUS IS KING TODAY

More Than 3000 Children Attend His Picnic at Mountain Rock—Twenty-One Special Cars

Between three and four thousand children gathered in Merrimack square this morning shortly before 9 o'clock and boarded the 21 special cars that were lined along Paige and John streets, waiting to convey the happy youngsters to Mountain Rock park, where the 13th famous annual McManus picnic was held.

The Essex County band, which consisted of 25 pieces, all boys under 16 years of age, was present and furnished an excellent concert which lasted over half an hour. Not a child was late and the patter of little feet and a merry whistle accompanied the selections played by the band. A hurdy-gurdy was also in attendance and played the popular airs to the enjoyment of the children.

Hundreds of people had gathered in the square to listen to the concert and coming from that section of the city and stated that if the playground supervisors were present to keep the crowd away and preserve order they would show a major league brand of baseball. Several practice games were played and other sports were taken part in while waiting for the dinner bell to be sounded but the real sporting program was run off this afternoon.

During the morning the girls played games and grouped around the band and hurdy-gurdy and listened to the concert. The selections by the band were excellent and much credit is due their leader for the fine musical entertainment afforded the picnicers today. Others of the group preferred to walk through the grove and fields and a fine blueberry patch was found in a nearby lot and many of the little ones had a preliminary luncheon in the berry field.

Shortly before 11:30 o'clock a large vagon containing several baskets of lemons, an abundance of coffee, over four thousand ham sandwiches, that had been prepared by Mr. McManus and his assistants and other food arrived on the grounds and work was immediately started to prepare luncheon for over three thousand children, the largest number that has ever attended these annual picnics. The sandwiches were unpacked and the coffee and lemonade made ready and then the children were requested to form in line in front of the old baseball grand stand and pass into the grove while the others would hand them their food. The children obeyed wonderfully well and besides a little hurrying at times obeyed orders to the letter. It was only a matter of a few minutes before the group had been served and they all sat down in the grove to partake of their dinner and one can imagine these hungry archbishops seated under the pine trees enjoying themselves as only children can. Music was furnished during the noon hour by the band.

Big League Timber

After dinner the boys and girls were requested to gather at the ball grounds where the sporting program was to be carried out. The grand stand was filled with the children, mostly girls, while the grounds were covered with colored bibbons and little caps. A feature of the afternoon was the baseball game between rival teams from the North common and it is said that the boys have been practicing under the direction of Supervisor Charles Donahue for the past two weeks. Each watch the youngsters board the cars and one gentleman with a streak of gray in his mustache stated that many years ago he attended one of these picnics and he wished that he was a boy again if only for today. Many other grown-up boys or elderly men had the same desire and although they had the permission of attending the picnic if they wished their childhood days had gone by and it goes without saying that the days of our youth are the days of our glory.

Promptly at 3 o'clock after the word of Starter Hickey had been given the long line of cars preceded by one jam-bone containing the members of the band passed around the corners of Paige and Bridge streets on the way to the picnic grounds and a larger or more knappler group of children never arrived at this popular picnic grounds than those who attended the picnic today. No child was refused a ride on the special cars or luncheon at the grounds and those who had not received tickets were provided for by Mr. McManus before the cars started.

Took Dip in the Lake

Immediately upon their arrival at the grounds the youngsters set out to enjoy themselves. They were divided into groups, the larger making for the lake to enjoy a swim. Officers Higdon and Cullen, both expert swimmers, were stationed on the bank of the lake so that the children would not be in any danger of meeting with an accident and they swam along the lake like a group of veterans. Others organized baseball teams and started the national game and it could easily be seen that the North common playgrounds were deserted today as the team was supported by a large number of followers and every star play received long applause. The game was the centre of attraction for nearly two hours and all who witnessed it surely came away with the feeling that they had received their money's worth. The winning team was given tickets for grand stand seats at the game at Spaulding park tomorrow afternoon and it is understood that Manager Gray's object in getting the youngsters out to the park is to look them over for future reference.

DRIVE NEGROES OUT OF TOWN

AKRON, O., Aug. 13.—A serious race riot may be the result of notices posted on the homes of North Side negroes last night by members of a "citizens vigilance league" in that section of the city, warning the negroes that unless they sell their property and leave they will be forcibly evicted from their homes, which also are threatened with destruction.

Other sporting numbers were carried out and there were races for all the children and some very close contests were pulled off. Valuable prizes were given to the winners of the different events. The prizes included gold rings for girls' races, man-doll, ticket for trip to Old Orchard beach, baseball glove and many other articles. The sporting program lasted until nearly four o'clock in the afternoon when all reluctantly began to get ready to make the return trip. Music was again played by the Essex county school band and the twenty-one cars were filled with the happy but tired children.

The picnic today was the most successful that has ever been held for the children of Lowell and all parts of the city were represented. Mr. John McManus is responsible for the good time afforded the children today and he was highly complimented for the successful way in which everything connected with the picnic went off.

Whalers Beaten 8 to 5—Lowell
Used Henderson and Zieser—
DeGroff Bangs Out Home Run

In the first inning Henderson hit the ball to first ahead of DeGroff, but he was caught off first by the Lowell pitcher's quick throw. Spikes and Kennedy both went out by the De-Halstein route.

Clemens drove a savage runner to first who was unable to handle it. Miller sacrificed him and DeGroff hit a single to center, scoring Clemens. Magee was an easy out on his ground.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0.
New Bedford looked dangerous in the second. After Griffiths had hit out to DeGroff, Logan batted a home run over DeGroff's head. Henderson was wild and passed Dean. Torphy hit out to Halstein and Dean was out on a peculiar play. Halstein threw to Henderson who dropped the ball but Miller was right behind and tagged him out when he overran the base.

Only three men faced Fuller. Daly hit out to Torphy. Aubrey was thrown out at first and Dee foul-tied to Kilhullen.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0.
New Bedford was easy for the Lowell infield in the third. Miller threw out both Kilhullen and Fuller and DeGroff went on a close defense.

Lowell got one man as far as first in her half. Henderson was caught at second on Henderson's grounder. Clemens walked. Miller hit out to Logan. Sweett made a great catch of DeGroff's long fly to center.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 0.
New Bedford tied up the score in the fourth. Spikes grounded out to DeGroff. Griffiths fumbled to DeGroff, the latter fumbled to Kilhullen. Henderson walked. Kennedy to ground. Dean walked and when Daly threw into center field, Logan went to third. Clemens made the last put-out on a swell catch of Torphy's fly to center.

Magee fled out to Kennedy. Halstein tied to DeGroff. DeGroff hit to Kilhullen. DeGroff came in and caught Aubrey's drive.

Score: Lowell 1, New Bedford 1.
Lowell again took the lead in the fifth. Kilhullen hit out to Magee. Fuller struck out. Sweett drove a shining single into right. Spikes went out on a fly.

Dee was safe on his grounder which bounded too high for Logan. Spikes fumbled Henderson's punt and both men were safe. Clemens laid down a perfect hit which went for a hit but when Spikes booted it, Dee scored. Henderson was thrown out at third when Miller bunted to Fuller. DeGroff walked. Magee hit to Torphy and Clemens was thrown out at the plate. Kilhullen completed a double by

SOME INTERESTING FACTS
Culled From U. S. Census

Just Completed
AND HAVING TO DO WITH THE CITY OF LOWELL.

Comparison of Mill Cities Provides Food For Thought—Increase in Population Here Very Slow

The 13th census of the United States has been completed and shows some very interesting facts concerning Lowell and surrounding cities, comparing the populations, nationalities, etc. of the various cities in Middlesex county.

The book is very interesting and should be kept for reference. This work, however, contains statistics up to 1910 only, that is for a period of ten years. It shows that Lowell's increase in population has been very slow during the decade ending in 1910, and also that the spindle city has a larger percentage of native population than any mill city in the commonwealth.

The following facts are culled from the report:
Thirty-three per cent. of Lowell's population is between the ages of 25 and 44 years.

Lowell has the largest percentage of unmarried males and unmarried females among the four mill cities of the state.

Lowell is second in school attendance among these same cities, Fall River leading.

The percentage of literacy in Lowell is lower than in any other of the mill cities, the percentage in Lawrence is the highest.

Lowell has the largest number of manufacturing establishments but its increase in value of products during the years 1900-10 was the smallest of any one of the four mill cities.

The Irish born population of Lowell is larger than in any one of the other cities. His French-Canadian population is second in number to that of Fall River.

It has the largest number of persons born in the maritime provinces, but it is fourth in the number of its English born population. It is the only city in New England having any considerable Greek population. It has the smallest number of Italian residents of any one of the four mill cities, and it leads in the number of its Scotch and Swedish residents, among the cities whose residents are reported to.

Not Growing Rapidly
Lowell's increase in population during the ten years from 1900 to 1910 was not great, being but 14.5, while the increase from 1880 to 1900 was nearly double that, or 22.2 per cent. New Bedford shows the greatest increase in the state, or 34.3 per cent. from 1900 to 1910, and 57.3 from 1880 to 1900. Lowell stands 23rd in percentage of increase out of 25 cities in the state.

Under the head of color, race, nationality and parentage, Lowell shows an Italian population of 12.3 per cent. of its total. This is greater than Fall River, which has but 12.3 native born population, while Lawrence does but slightly better, with 12.6 native born population. Of foreign or mixed parentage, Lowell has 35.3 per cent., with Lawrence showing 37.2 per cent. and Fall River 42.1 per cent. In all four mill cities Lawrence leads the four mill cities of the commonwealth with 49.1 per cent., while New Bedford is second with 45.0 per cent., and Lowell is fourth with 42.1 per cent. Fall River is fourth with 42.1 per cent.

That city, New Bedford is second, with 41.0, Lawrence is third, with 40.6, Lowell is the only one of the four cities with any considerable Greek population. It is down in the big book of having 3782 residents who are natives of Greece. New Bedford has 172, Lawrence 171 and Fall River 130. But if Lowell has the largest Greek population, Lawrence has the greatest number of Germans, being credited with 2341. New Bedford has 777, Fall River 234, and Lowell 205.

Of the four cities Lowell has the largest Irish born population, 9583, with Lawrence second, with 5943, Fall River third with 5194 and New Bedford last with 2583.

PORT TO PORT RACING

By N. Y. Yacht Club Fleet
Continues

MARLBHEAD, Aug. 13.—Port to port racing by the New York Yacht Club fleet continued today with a 24-mile contest in Massachusetts bay and an anchorage for the night in the harbor of Gloucester. The two harbors are only ten miles apart, so the racing division of the squadron was sent over two sides of a long isthmus, with the start at Head of Way rock, the turn at Boston Lightship and the finish at Eastern Point.

The greater part of the summer colony along the north shore from Nahant to Cape Ann sat on the rocks and watched the sport, for the day was very clear.

The cruising section of the fleet, including the big steam yachts, remained in the harbor until well along in the afternoon or paid visits to various little coves on the Beverly and Manchester shores.

There was a fine wind during the day and it was ideal weather for the water.

Interest in Marblehead harbor today was singularly divided. The local yachtsmen spent their time inspecting the New York 50-footers, eight of which were at anchor here before the racing began, while the New York yachtsmen preoccupied by looking over the Sander yacht fleet, including the three German visitors, two of which have been fitted.

While the fleet in Marblehead harbor at morning colors today was not quite so large as that of 11 years ago, it nevertheless filled up the port to such an extent that emergency regulations were necessary to keep a water highway from incoming and outgoing boats.

The big steam yachts were compelled to anchor near the entrance and even out in Salem bay, and the 50-footers kept well outside in order to be able to swing away for the starting line without being bothered by the small boats.

The steam yacht Corsair, while a somewhat familiar visitor to New England waters, has not been in Marblehead for some years, and was easily the gantiest of the fleet. Her black slides loomed up above the others like a battleship over a torpedo squadron, while her lowering wireless plant also was an attraction. The Corsair's wireless was of considerable assistance last night in sending in the names of the winners, for the greater portion of the racing fleet from Provincetown finished after dark at half way rock, four miles from the harbor.

To obtain the names of the three winners for the Commodore's cup almost as soon as they crossed the line, was of material advantage to the newspaper men following the fleet.

The Eastern Yacht club was a busy place today, for the visiting yachtsmen made it their headquarters and special telegraph wires were installed to handle the rush of private messages.

The club house force was nearly doubled in order to care for the wants of the visitors. The house committee, headed by Parkman Dexter and seconded by Secretary Stephen W. Sleeper did everything in its power to supply the wants and desires of the New Yorkers.

There were four commodores in Marblehead harbor today, and a small squadron of vice and rear commodores. Commodore Dallas B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club was on the black schooner Sea Fox, Commodore Robert Treat Paine, 2nd, was on the black schooner Constance, having transferred his flag last night, while Commodore P. H. Johnson of the Baltimore Yacht club flew his broad pennant from the white steam yacht Margaret.

The commodore of the Corinthian Yacht club was also in the harbor. Commodore Herbert M. Sears of the East Yacht club was on the steamer Hope, and Rear Commodore C. H. W. Foster of the same club was on the ketch Autocrat. Rear Commodore J. P. Morgan's white flag of the New York Yacht club flew from the Corsair, although Mr. Morgan did not come aboard the Cape with the fleet. His 50-footer Grayling was sailed by his son Julius S. Morgan, the Harvard oarsman.

AMATEUR BASEBALL
The Tigers of North Billerica would like to arrange a game with any 17-18 year old team for next Saturday afternoon. The Ponties, Hustlers or St. Jeans preferred. Send all challenges to Joseph Sullivan, North Billerica, or telephone 8717-W evenings.

The Groves would like to play the Glenmores for the championship of the city at any place and any time. The Groves are also willing to put up a side bet that their team can vanquish the Glenmores. The two teams have met twice and each is credited with a win. August 23d is named as an open date for the Groves.

DIAMOND DAZZLES
Lawrence here tomorrow for two games. Everybody get together and let's see if we can't annex both of them.

Jawn O'Brien was right on the job with his pink shirt today. Jawn is never in good condition unless dolled out in the brightest tint of pink that he can dig up. Just the same this doughty little manager is doing wonders for the Whalers and the owners made a wise move when they selected him to take up the managerial reins.

The New Bedford club has some quarrel. Before the start of yesterday's contest the speculators were excited by several selections from the Whalers bench. In announcing the batteries Empire White made quite a hit when he roared out, "Batteries for today, Lowell, Henderson and Daly; Metropolitan Opera House Fuller and Kilhullen."

By the way, Empire White is a bit of an orator himself. He sure does delight in ripping off a few syllables when he steps up to the plate on announcements. And we are obliged to say that he always gets away with it, too.

Aubrey is slower than his leg, but to Lowell on account of his bad leg, just the same he is one good man on any ball team. What he doesn't know about the game isn't worth knowing. Halstein was not obliged to wait long on this yesterday when Aubrey stepped to the plate. He scored the first sacker with as pretty a sacrifice as was ever laid down at the park.

Lawrence could not touch Moran yesterday. Four hits was all that were gleaned off the ex-Providence twirler. Morin, on the other hand, was fruitful for hits when they counted. Lawrence had the worst error column that has been put up in the league this year, nine big misplays giving the game every appearance of a farce.

DeGroff has hit twice this week in the league. If the Rubs keeps up this gait we will also have to take back some of the harsh criticisms we have made on lack of pinning ability. Miller also is performing better in the field since this column saw it to take him a task. Keep it up, boys, and we'll have to hand it to you.

The second division teams are all playing real baseball these days. New Bedford and Fall River in particular have improved over their early season conduct, but we hope they won't boost their averages at our expense.

Sweett is one of the best outfielders in the league. He can pull down any kind of a fly ball or line drive and bats like a demon. Every ball that this player meets goes on a line. Sweett makes very few errors in the run of a season.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP
New Building Was Dedicated Last Night With Impressive Services—
Four Entertainment Given

The new pavilion at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Nabbassett that was described in these columns one week ago was dedicated with impressive services last night. A dinner was served early in the evening and an entertainment was furnished by the boys. Many of the Y. M. C. A. directors and others interested in this work attended the affair and a number of the Nabbassett campers were present at the entertainment.

The dinner began with roast chicken and nothing was omitted on the menu to satisfy the appetites of the campers and guests. The dedication exercises followed the dinner and they were opened by all singing "America." A verse from the Scripture was read by Mr. Thomas Williams and songs were sung by H. A. Mansfield, Prayer was offered by Rev. F. A. Macdonald and remarks were made by Dr. Yarnell, W. H. G. Wright, C. R. Redway, W. T. S. Bartlett, H. A. Mansfield and W. T. Gumb. The dedication ceremony was then read by Dr. Yarnell and the members of the camp. The exercises closed with the Lord's prayer.

The above ceremony was followed by two sketches entitled, "Dr. Dobbs' Assistant" and "The Employment Agency" and both were very well given. The boys entertained with harmonica and fife solos and the evening proved profitable and enjoyable for all concerned.

DIRECTORS OF ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE TAKE OFFICE

REV. BRO. PRISCILLIANUS, S. M., GUEST OF HONOR

OLD EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF ALUMNI

Standing: E. J. Laroche, A. L. Eno, R. E. Johnson, Rev. Bro. Priscillianus, S. M., E. S. Desmarais, J. F. Montminy, E. G. Ricard.
Sitting: W. P. Caisse, Jr., Rev. J. Ricard, O. M. L., Rev. Bro. Chrysostom, S. M., Rev. J. M. Blais, O. M. L., H. V. Charbonneau.

It was a happy gathering that took place at the home of the Marist brothers in Moody street last night, when the recently elected directors of St. Joseph's college alumni were inducted into office. The occasion was also a farewell reception to the guest of honor or at the second annual reunion of the alumni which took place last Thursday.

Rev. Bro. Priscillianus, S. M., of Quebec, a former director of the school. The host of the evening was Rev. Brother Leon Bernardin, S. M., director of the college, who had extended an invitation to the young men, and all agreed that the brother has a way of his own to entertain which cannot be surpassed. The guests gathered at the well appointed home of the brothers shortly after 8 o'clock, and from that time until a late hour, it was a season of merriment.

Vocal and instrumental selections as well as readings were in order, and every one present contributed his share of the program. Old class choruses were sung, much to the delight of Brother Priscillianus, who also joined in the singing. At the close of the evening the president of the alumni, Wilfrid P. Caisse, Jr., extended best wishes to the visitor in behalf of the alumni, and assured him there is always a warm spot in the hearts of his former pupils for one whom they learned to love and respect, and concluded by saying he hoped Brother Priscillianus would at the next reunion return to Lowell for a few days at least.

The brother, who always thought a lot of the Spaldie city, where for many years was instructor and director, assured the "boys" although stationed in the beautiful city of Quebec, he has never forgotten those who for so long have been in his care. He said it is always a great pleasure for him to return to Lowell, for he knows he is always welcome, for outside of his native place, Chateaufort sur Layon, France, there is no city in the world so attractive to him as good old Lowell.

The brother took occasion to review the years since those present were in his care at St. Joseph's college, and took particular pains to learn what has become of the older boys, inquiring about their homes, etc., and it was much to his delight that he was told most of his former pupils are writing along well in life, and the majority have secured lucrative positions. Brother Priscillianus said he was leaving this morning at 8:15 for Montreal, N. B., where until this evening he would be the guest of Rev. Brother Sylvain, S. M., another former local teacher. Tomorrow he will be in Montreal, where he will meet Rev. Brother Chrysostom, S. M., first director in Lowell, and who was unable to attend this year's reunion, and to whom he will give the reports of the 1912 executive committee.

investigation committee in substance, by only the presentation in the desk of Majority Leader Levy hours before the organization trusted its impeachment resolution to a roll call. With the adoption of this resolution and the creation of a committee, headed by Mr. Levy, to prepare the articles, a recess was taken. Mr. Levy and his associates went through the formality of retiring, to reappear within an hour and send the articles to the speaker's desk with a resolution that they be adopted.

Adoption of Resolutions.
A roll call showed the adoption of the resolution by a vote of 75 to 52. A committee was appointed to acquaint the senate with the assembly's findings at the meeting of the senate scheduled for 11 o'clock today. Majority Leaders assured their belief that with the presentation to the senate of the articles of impeachment William Sulzer would automatically resign to his governor and Lieut. Gov. Martin H. Glynn would assume the office of governor as acting governor. Mr. Sulzer's lawyers maintained a different view.

Impeachment Proceedings.
With the adoption of the articles and the appointment of the two committees, the assembly proceeded to the adoption of a resolution calling for the appointment of the managers to conduct on behalf of the lower house, the impeachment proceedings, and Speaker Smith announced its membership as follows:

Levy of New York, chairman; McMahon of New York, Greenberg of New York, Gillon of Kings, Ward of New York, Fitzgerald of Erie, Madden of the Bronx, T. K. Smith of Onondaga and Schenck of Ontario.

Consider Veto by Sulzer.
Thereafter, under the lead of unfinished business, the assembly took up consideration of the so-called toll bridge bill passed at the extraordinary session and vetoed by the governor. The bill was re-passed unanimously over the governor's veto. Many members had been slumbering in their seats during the tedious hours of the prolonged debate. Others, however, buoyed by the excitement attendant upon the expectation of a roll call, on the impeachment resolution, leaned back in their chairs and closed their eyes. When the toll bridge bill had been passed, Speaker Smith, leaning forward, swept with his eyes rows of men, with their heads thrust down on their bosoms and their eyes closed.

"A number of the members, I take it, are asleep in their chairs," he thundered, bringing his cavel down with a resounding thump on his desk. "Members will please answer when their names are called."

The assembly then took up the next matter on the schedule of unfinished business, the Blauvelt short election bill, passed at the extraordinary session, designed to reduce election expenses in the rural districts, and voted by the governor because it conflicted with his own direct primary bill. The heavy-eyed assembly passed it over the veto by 105 to 5.

With this out of the way the assembly adjourned at 1:30 o'clock to meet again at 11 o'clock.

Police Charged Nightsticks.
Two hundred spectators, remnants of a throng that surged in overwhelming numbers through the capital last night, walked out of the assembly chamber. The heaviest guard of uniformed police ever sent into the capitol, each armed with night sticks and revolvers, waited out, leaving the assembly chamber to solitude.

In the executive mansion where Mrs. Sulzer made last night what her friends call her confession to save her husband, Gov. Sulzer sat all almost dawn awaiting the verdict, there was no sign of life when the legislative adjourned.

The governor knew exactly what would be the result, was the only word from the executive mansion. The governor had left orders that he was not to be disturbed under any circumstances.

Mrs. Sulzer's Declaration.
In the light of the revelations contained in Mrs. Sulzer's declaration to Senator Palmer yesterday afternoon, Gov. Sulzer's friends are inclined today to view the ordeal which confronts him with less apprehension than before his impeachment. But her assertion that she diverted part of the campaign contributions sent her husband to private purposes without his knowledge and used them to purchase stocks in Wall street, she has shown the articles of impeachment of many of their terrors, his friends declare.

Gov. Sulzer consented to permit Mrs. Sulzer's declaration to become public late last night only when he found that he could not prevent it and that it lived as a rumor on the lips of every member of the assembly in the city. A close friend of both Gov. and Mrs. Sulzer so asserted today. Mrs. Sulzer, it is thought, will take the witness stand in her husband's behalf before the court of impeachment, tell her story in detail and submit to examination by hostile lawyers. Friends say she sought the governor a week ago to permit her to tell the story to the public.

May Refuse to Vacate.
What attitude Gov. Sulzer would take in this matter as well toward the question of vacating his office when the senate receives the articles of impeachment brought forth with divergence of view among his friends and opponents today. The majority leaders professed to believe he would not attempt to continue to hold office, but relinquish the office to Lieut. Gov. Glynn pending the outcome of the trial before the court of impeachment.

According to the quoted expression of Lewis Marshall, counsel for Mr. Sulzer, the lawyers of the constitution is not clear on this point and Governor Sulzer could give himself the benefit of the doubt by refusing to vacate the office.

Many members of the assembly appeared to Speaker Smith to be reassured from further attendance today, but all such requests were denied, the speaker announcing that Sulzer of urgency would require the presence of every member when the assembly reconvened at 11 o'clock.

Filed False Statement

The articles of impeachment, based on evidence taken by the Fawley legislative committee, charged that as governor-elect, William Sulzer made a false statement of campaign contributions to the secretary of state, causing "great scandal and reproach of the governor of the state of New York," that said statement did not contain all the contributions that had been received by him and that in making and filing such false statement he was "guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury."

Article three alleges that while governor, Mr. Sulzer "fraudulently induced" Lewis H. Sarecky, Frederick L. Calwell and Melville B. Fuller to withhold testimony from the Fawley investigating committee and that in so doing he was guilty of a felony.

Used Threats and Menaces

It is further alleged in the next article that the governor "practiced deceit and fraud and used threats and menaces" with intent to prevent the committee and other persons subpoenaed from producing books and papers desired by the committee, thereby being guilty of a misdemeanor.

It is further charged that, prior to his election the governor appropriated campaign contributions to his own use "and used the same, or a large part thereof, in speculating in stocks and bonds on the New York stock exchange and thereby stole such checks and was guilty of larceny."

Among the contributors mentioned are: Jacob H. Schiff, $2500; Abram I. Elmer, $500; William F. McCone, $500; Harry Morgenthau, $1000; John Lynn, $500; Theodore W. Myers, $1000; Lyman A. The governor is charged with having promised and threatened to use the authority and influence of the office of governor for the purpose of affecting the vote or political action of certain public officers, including Assemblyman S. G. Prime of Essex and Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oswego.

Filed False Statement

The articles of impeachment, based on evidence taken by the Fawley legislative committee, charged that as governor-elect, William Sulzer made a false statement of campaign contributions to the secretary of state, causing "great scandal and reproach of the governor of the state of New York," that said statement did not contain all the contributions that had been received by him and that in making and filing such false statement he was "guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury."

Article three alleges that while governor, Mr. Sulzer "fraudulently induced" Lewis H. Sarecky, Frederick L. Calwell and Melville B. Fuller to withhold testimony from the Fawley investigating committee and that in so doing he was guilty of a felony.

Used Threats and Menaces

It is further alleged in the next article that the governor "practiced deceit and fraud and used threats and menaces" with intent to prevent the committee and other persons subpoenaed from producing books and papers desired by the committee, thereby being guilty of a misdemeanor.

It is further charged that, prior to his election the governor appropriated campaign contributions to his own use "and used the same, or a large part thereof, in speculating in stocks and bonds on the New York stock exchange and thereby stole such checks and was guilty of larceny."

CITY ACCEPTS COMFORT STATION DISARMED AFTER FIERCE FIGHT

Keys Were Turned Over to Mayor
Jas. E. O'Donnell Today—Will be
Formally Opened Saturday

The comfort station recently constructed in Paige street, is now finished and this noon was formally accepted by the city of Lowell, and it will be open on Saturday morning. The station as a matter of fact has been finished for a few days, but inasmuch as the city government was waiting for an opinion from the city solicitor as to which department the said station would be assigned, the place was not formally accepted until this noon, the opinion having been given at yesterday's meeting.

At noon a conference was held in the mayor's office at city hall, when the keys of the station were turned over to the mayor, who as head of the health department will be in charge. Present at the conference were Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Commissioner Cummings of the public building department, Inspector Francis A. Connor of the same department, City Solicitor Hennessey, Architect Henry L. Rourke and Mrs. Patrick Conlin, widow of the late Patrick Conlin, who had charge of the general contract. She was represented by counsel.

It is just 11 months ago today that the contract for the construction of the comfort station was signed, and the place would have been ready long ago had not the contractor met with a pretty hard proposition when a solid ledge was struck while digging for the foundation of the station. An old water cistern was also reached and it required a lot of work and time to put the place in a good dry condition.

However, the station is now ready and will be formally opened Saturday morning. The caretaker of the place will be appointed tomorrow by Mayor O'Donnell.

Dr. Dabney, Crazy Surgeon, Who
Was Subdued While Dissecting
Patient, Sent to Asylum

MARJETTA, O., Aug. 13.—With the commitment to Long View asylum in Cincinnati today of Dr. William R. Dabney, there has come to light one of the most remarkable chapters in medical history.

Not until the crazy surgeon had undertaken to perform vivisection upon a patient was it realized by the attendants in the operating room that madness was directing the scalpel in an effort to uncover vital organs.

Dr. Dabney entered practice in Marietta about 15 years ago. He made a specialty of eye, ear and throat operations.

For several months previous to his mental collapse and the startling revelations of his condition, rarely a day passed that he did not perform two or three difficult operations.

It was the death on the operating table of an aged and wealthy farmer, Jacob F. Schaad, that brought Dr. Dabney's career to a climax. Schaad had a tumor growth on his upper jaw. He consulted Dr. Dabney and was assured that a minor operation would remove the disfigurement.

Dr. Dabney began to dissect Schaad's face and throat. Both sides of the face were laid open and deep incisions made in the throat. But the skill of the mad surgeon was shown in the dexterity with which he avoided inflicting a fatal wound.

How far the crazy surgeon would have proceeded with the dissection cannot be told, for the horrified nurse ran shrieking that Dr. Dabney was killing his patient. Her cries brought Drs. Ballard and Penrose with several of the hospital attendance to the scene and Dr. Dabney, by this time a raving maniac, brandishing his scalpel over the unconscious living subject, was disarmed and subdued after a desperate struggle.

Effect Very Marked and Rapid

I received the sample of SULPHOLAC and found it to be all you claim of it. I used it for a very stubborn case of eczema, and its effect was very marked and rapid. You may use my name in any way you wish in connection with this statement. I consider SULPHOLAC an excellent remedy for eczema.

(S) EDWIN R. LITTLE,

SULPHOLAC is the successful remedy because it kills the germ that makes the trouble. It contains an efficient and highly priced germ destroyer combined with sulphur. Everyone knows nothing equals sulphur to cleanse and purify the skin. When everything else fails, the most stubborn aggravated cases of eczema are conquered by SULPHOLAC. REP. WATSON GOT $250 A WEEK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Henry R. Towne, of New York, told the senate today about the formation of the national tariff commission association of which he was once president. Martin M. Mulhall had testified that the National Association of Manufacturers was the chief factor in its organization.

Towne testified the association was formed at an Indianapolis convention in 1900 called by Henry Heisenberg, at which 232 commercial organizations were represented. Thousands of contributors included the manufacturers and the merchants association of New York.

Former Representative James E. Watson was employed by the association in April, 1909, after he left congress. Towne testified in explaining two $500 drafts on the manufacturers drawn to Watson. He said the manufacturers had promised to contribute $1000 and gave it in form of two drafts.

Blaine's old district, where a special election is to be held on Sept. 8 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Goodwin.

He denied that the tariff commission association tried to put men on the tariff board. In four years, he said, the commission had raised about $30,000.

Towne testified Watson was employed by the tariff association from April to June, 1909, and on cross examination he was paid $250 a week. "Wasn't Watson employed because he was close to the 'Cannon machine'?" demanded Senator Reed. "I don't know about that," said Towne.

NEW CROSS BREED OF HORSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Experts of the bureau of animal industry believe they have discovered a new cross breed of horse that will prove as tough and useful as the mule and yet have the intelligence and speed of the full blood horse. This decision has been reached after experiments made by breeding "Dan," the Greavy zebra from the national zoological gardens, to a Morgan mare at the Maryland experimental farm of the department of agriculture. The resultant foal has been highly praised by horsemen and the breeders are urging that the government import as many more zebras of the same strain as can be procured for the purpose of establishing the new breed.

STATE PROBE ORDERED THREW TEAPOT AT GIRL

Charges Concerning Life Robber Then Made His Escape in Chelsea

Saving Fund

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Att. Gen. Swift, who has before him charges concerning the collection of funds for the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps, said yesterday afternoon that the charges involved the collection of funds by persons who receive certain percentage of them, and that the inquiry might extend much further than this association.

Mr. Swift said that he had been told of a number of charitable associations which collect funds in the same way. He would not state his opinion as to the legality of the procedure.

The organization in question is incorporated as a charitable association. It has for treasurer William Penn Jackson of Boston, who yesterday was asked by the attorney general's office to give some facts about the matter. This Jackson is said to be willing to go.

The association maintains volunteer life saving crews at beaches and other shore resorts. The commission for collection amounts, it is said, to about 10 per cent of the total. The collector pays his own expenses out of this.

In his probe Mr. Swift has conferred with Chief Whitney of the state police.

BARS OFF MILL WINDOWS

Fire Commissioner Says They are Dangerous

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Fire Commissioner Cole wants all iron bars and screens on the windows of factories removed from the first and second floors. The commissioner made this recommendation yesterday to a special committee of the legislature which is investigating conditions surrounding the employment of women and children.

The commissioner also recommended horizontal fire escapes that run around the entire building in preference to vertical fire escapes. In a crowded factory building vertical fire escapes lead to panics. They are unable to accommodate much more than 50 people at a time, while a horizontal fire escape is able to accommodate all the occupants of each floor and permits moving to a place of safety pending the arrival of the fire apparatus.

All possible means of exit are necessary in case of fire, the commissioner says, and from bars and screens prevent the occupants from getting out of the windows in case of fire, and also prevent the firemen from getting into the building.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS

Sweetheart Phoned She Would Not Marry Him

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Ten minutes after Harry M. Pascall, 24, of 460 Main street, Medford, had received word over the telephone from his sweetheart that she would not marry him, the young man went to his little bed chamber and committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas through a tube attached to a gas jet.

The body was discovered a half an hour later at 2:30 o'clock by his mother, who smelled gas and traced it to his room. Mrs. Pascall rushed down stairs and notified G. A. Nutter, owner of a drug store, who telephoned for a physician. Medical Examiner Durell of Somerville was called and pronounced the young man a suicide.

Pascall, who was married four years ago to Gertrude Howard, a Medford girl, had trouble with his wife last spring and she left him, taking with her their two children, one of whom has since died. Within the last few months Mrs. Pascall, the youth's mother, declared that her son had become infatuated with another girl and has said that he could not live without her.

CONFESSES TO KILLING SISTER

Woman Admits Shooting Her Through the Head While Asleep

Then Dragged the Body Into Cellar and Hid It Under Washtubs

WEST RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Eugene McCarthy, 55 years old, confessed yesterday, according to the police, that she had murdered her sister, Miss Alice Kerrigan, five years her junior, who had been missing since a slight quarrel between the two last Friday.

Following the directions given in the alleged confession the police found the body of Miss Kerrigan, with a bullet hole through the head, buried beneath a pile of dirt and covered by two wash tubs.

Beyond saying that there had been a trifling argument, Mrs. McCarthy, the police say, could give the officials no reason for her act.

They stated that she would probably be submitted to a mental examination after appearing in the local court today on a charge of murder.

Killed on Couch
"Yes, I killed my sister. I shot her through the head while she was lying on a couch. She wouldn't agree with me, so I went upstairs and got a gun. Then I dragged her body into the cellar and buried it under a couple of tubs. You'll find it there."

This was Mrs. McCarthy's confession as given out by the police. Their investigation followed queries by William Kerrigan as to the whereabouts of his sister Alice and the receipt of a mysterious telephone call by Deputy Sheriff F. H. Patten. The call purported to have come from Miss Kerrigan, saying that she was all right, that she was visiting friends in Whitehall and that there was no need for alarm. It developed later that the speaker was Mrs. McCarthy who, the police believe, became alarmed at her brother's inquiries after his missing sister. Miss Kerrigan's absence was not known outside of her own home until her brother began his search.

Death of Eight Children
Miss Kerrigan lived with her father, Michael Kerrigan, on the lower floor of a house on Pleasant street, while Mrs. McCarthy, Kerrigan's other daughter, lived upstairs with her husband, a marble worker, and eight children.

There was no one in the house Friday afternoon except Mrs. McCarthy. According to Mrs. McCarthy's story as given out by the police Miss Kerrigan laid down on a couch in the living room of her father's home, following a dispute, while Mrs. McCarthy went upstairs. Mrs. McCarthy came down again carrying a shot gun. Walking over to the lounge upon which her sister was dozing, she pressed the muzzle to Miss Kerrigan's head and fired.

Death was apparently instantaneous. Mrs. McCarthy, the story continues, said she dragged the body down cellar immediately afterwards. Digging a hole in the dirt floor she put the body into it, replaced the dirt and covered the spot with two tubs.

Father Is 72
Her father, who is 72 years old, was outside the house at the time, but knew nothing of what had happened. The police said last night that he still thought that his daughter Alice was visiting somewhere, as Mrs. McCarthy had told. Mrs. McCarthy's children, who were playing nearby, were also in ignorance of the occurrences within the house.

The woman was locked up in the house of correction at Rutland for the night.

EXPRESS TRAIN IN WRECK

N. E. States Limited Split Switch—Cars Smashed

MONTEPELIER, Vt., Aug. 12.—The Montreal express, known as the New England States Limited, which left Boston heavily freighted with summer vacationists, was wrecked at 6:15 last night on the Central Vermont rails at West Berlin, seven miles south of this city.

None of its many passengers were seriously injured. Their escape was remarkable as the big train, plowing ahead at high speed to make up for lost time, entered an open switch, derailing six cars, and came to a stop 200 yards from the steep embankment of the Pass river.

The vestibules of the cars were smashed into splinters. The six coaches, mostly Pullman and dining cars, are lying over at an angle of 45 degrees. By the time the news of the accident had reached this city, a train had been dispatched over the single track and had taken the passengers away. Most of them were brought to Montpelier. The railroad officials announced that only one man, an employee, was badly injured.

At the point known as the South End, between Northfield and Montpelier, is a switch about 500 yards long. Into this the engine plunged, dragging with it a mail and baggage car. The six coaches which form the train de luxe of the northern road broke from the engine at this point. They left the track and their wheels tore up the roadbed for over a hundred yards with the momentum which had carried them onward.

VALUE OF CATTLE

Increased $7.00 Per Head by Eradication of Tick—Total Cost Only 30 Cents Per Head

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 12.—That the eradication of the cattle-tick has increased the value of cattle $7.00 per head in certain counties of Mississippi is the report of one of the inspectors of the bureau of animal industry, U. S. department of agriculture. The cost to the people for this eradication in twenty-one counties was not more than $100,000. In return they have received during the past year $2,145,339 in increased valuation of their cattle and this increase will be permanent so long as the counties are free from ticks. The cost of tick eradication was only 30 cents per head.

That tick has been one of the greatest deterrents to cattle-raising in the south is a fact which the southern farmers are beginning to appreciate. Up to date, however, these states have not begun to raise the possible number of cattle per acre. The failure of southern farmers to avail themselves of their full opportunities in this line has contributed importantly to the general cattle shortage, which has amounted to 30 per cent since 1906 for the whole country.

The rapid increase of population has meanwhile made necessary a greater supply of meat for consumption. As a consequence, packers are beginning to look to other quarters for a supply. There should, however, be no need of our drawing permanently on the supplies of other countries while the total yearly cattle output may be so greatly improved by tick eradication throughout the south.

Just so long as counties continue to raise ticks, there is scarcely any chance of building up a permanent and profitable cattle industry. For this reason it is encouraging for those farmers still subjected to the scourge to note the wonderful improvement made in districts where there has been a vigorous campaign on the part of the county for the destruction of the tick.

Certain counties in Mississippi still in quarantine because of the tick's devastations are losing annually not less than three million dollars. This estimate is based on the number of cattle that these counties are capable of producing. They stand in marked contrast to the other counties already mentioned where the total increased valuation of the free cattle was over two million dollars. Yet the estimate for the complete eradication of the pest from the infected counties and the saving of this annual loss of three millions has been placed by experts at only $85,000.

In addition to the actual profit gained by the improvement of the cattle stock, there is a great increase to be obtained in the average production of corn, cotton, and every other crop by a restoration to the soil of fertilizer in the form of manure. This is another very important reason why the south will profit by devoting its energies to eradicating the tick, and thus increase the yearly output of cattle.

According to the specialists, tick eradication is of such vital importance to every one of the southern states that no let up should be made until the complete destruction of every tick is accomplished. As soon as each state succeeds in this it will be well on the way toward the successful development of its cattle-raising. A general campaign should bring a satisfactory result everywhere as it has in the Mississippi counties where the work has been thorough.

GIRL'S STORY AT DIGGS TRIAL

Miss Warrington Tells of Her Relations With Alleged Slaver

Traces Developments and Trip in Pullman Car to Reno

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—A court room crowded from the railings to the doors sat in hushed expectancy yesterday while Marsha Warrington picked her way slowly to the witness stand. It was the climax of the case which the government is presenting against Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, who is accused under the Mann act of transporting the girl for immoral purposes to Reno, Nev. from Sacramento, Cal., where he left his wife and babies.

Miss Warrington's Story

Miss Warrington said in beginning her testimony that she was 20 years old and lived with her father and stepmother. Her mother had died when she was a year old.

"I have known Maury I. Diggs since last September, and we were very close friends," she continued. "Two weeks before we left for Reno in his machine, he told me that there was a scandal about to be published about the four of us, and that we would have to leave town. I was surprised, but he said we would have to go."

"Miss Norris was told, and Caminetti joined Diggs in urging that we leave immediately. They told us that we would be arrested and subjected to the third degree."

"Did you know that Diggs and Caminetti were married at that time?"

"Yes, and Miss Norris knew it, too. Diggs told me his relations with his wife were unpleasant; that he was unhappy and wanted to leave town. He said he had affection for me—cared for me more than he did for his wife. I believed him. He manifested affection for me; he kissed me; discussed marriage with me and said he would get a divorce and marry me. Caminetti told Lola the same thing."

"Did you have any affection for him?"

"Yes, I had a strong affection for him. We discussed leaving town together several times, when the four of us were on automobile trips and in Diggs' office. The men told us Diggs' father and Caminetti's father were going to prosecute us."

"We said we couldn't go. I said I couldn't go away from father; that it would kill him. Diggs said it would all come out in the papers any way, and that my father would know sooner or later and that we had better go."

"Miss Norris told them it would kill her mother, and Caminetti and Diggs told us that our parents would soon get over it. They kept urging us to go immediately."

"On Saturday, March 5, Diggs returned from San Francisco from a business trip. He called Lola, Caminetti and me to a cafe, told us his father was coming up from Berkeley the following Monday to put Caminetti in jail and have us prosecuted. He said that he had cleared up his business and that we would have to leave right away. We protested, but after three or four hours consented to go."

"The next day we met again and the men finally decided, on Reno, after considering Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. We tried to back out. We said we would just as soon stay and take chances on the scandal. They told us we couldn't back out."

"Caminetti didn't come with the money in time and we missed the first train. Later we met him at the cafe and at midnight went to the station again. When we got there Diggs told us to wait where we were and he went over and bought four tickets."

"We got into a Pullman car and Diggs engaged a drawing car. He paid the Pullman conductor. I saw him give the railroad conductor the tickets for our trip to Reno. Miss Norris and Caminetti took the upper berth and Diggs and I had the lower."

"We arrived at Reno the next day—the 16th—at about noon and went to a cafe for something to eat."

At this point the court adjourned until today.

MISS WARRINGTON RESUMED HER TESTIMONY AT TRIAL

TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—Marsha Warrington was the state's first witness today in the trial of Maury I. Diggs, charged with violation of the Mann act. She continued her story of yesterday of how she, in company with Lola Norris, Drew Caminetti and Diggs slipped away from Sacramento to Reno, Nev. in hope of avoiding local notoriety and stirred up a scandal which developed into an affair of national-wide interest and entered the halls of congress. The customary hundreds gathered in the corridors before United States District Judge Van Fleet's court and trailed in a long waiting line into the street where they took the sunny wall of the federal building. It being rather chilly in the shade.

It was not alone for Miss Warrington that the crowd took its slender chances of admission to the small courtroom. The next witness ready to be called was Lola Norris, whose school girl hair ribbons and smoothly rounded face gave her the impression that she was considerably the younger of the two. Her story in essentials, it was expected, would be much like that of Miss Warrington, although the latter testified that Diggs was the more active in some of the quartet's preparations which she described, than Caminetti, with whom the Norris girl fled.

"What did Caminetti say?" asked an attorney once when Miss Warrington was explaining how the men had labored to persuade the girls to leave home.

"He didn't say much," she replied. "He just agreed."

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. James J. Flanagan, a former member of the city government, and Miss Mary Genevieve Curran, was solemnized last night at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. George H. Flanagan of Taunton, a cousin of the bridegroom. The couple were attended by Miss Catherine Curran and Mr. John McCaffrey, who acted as bridesmaid and best man respectively. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 39 Abbott street, which was attended by a large number of friends present from Taunton, Cambridge and other places. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan left on an extended wedding trip through the White mountains. On their return they will live at 21 Viola street and will be at home after October 1. No cards.

ROY-GIGUERE

At St. Louis church yesterday afternoon Mr. A. L. Roy, merchant of Providence, R. I., and Miss Severina Giguere of this city, were united in marriage, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Desmarais. The witnesses were Messrs. Philippe Giguere and Arthur Demers. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 103 Aiken avenue. The couple will make their home in Providence.

SCOLLAN-WELCH

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. John's rectory, North Chelmsford, when Michael J. Scollan and Miss E. Lillian Welch were united in marriage by Rev. T. Schodick.

The bridegroom was Miss Rena K. Welch, a sister of the bride, while the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. John Gill of Lowell. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of baby Irish embroidery, with white mesquite trimmings. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bridegroom's gift was a ring, while the best man was the recipient of a pair of cuff links.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, corner Middlesex and Church streets. There were guests present from Worcester, Lynn, Boston and Lowell. A wedding supper was served at 6.30. After which an excellent program was carried out. The bride couple were said at the 9.55 train after receiving a grand send-off from the guests present. They received many beautiful and useful gifts, a special room being used to the peace congresses, and it is the conviction that The Hague is the royal residence of that "favored country," as Holland may be called with regard to international law, which made Stood proclaim The Hague, the capital of the world and which made Mr. Carnegie choose it as the spot where the peace palace was to be erected. This year's congress will be under the high patronage of his royal highness, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, Duke of Mecklenburg.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 13.—Peace advocates from all parts of the world assembled here for the twentieth universal peace congress, scheduled to take place at the new peace palace here Aug. 13-23, inclusive. Since 1859 this congress has met yearly in one of the larger towns of Europe and America. Among the later congresses, those of 1905 at Lucerne, of 1906 at Milan, of 1908 in London, and of 1910 at Stockholm may be cited as having been especially successful as well with regard to the work of the congress itself as to the kind hospitality with which the members were received. From the moment that the opening of the peace palace was fixed for 1913, a year in which the Dutch are making their country as attractive as possible, from that moment the idea took root that the twentieth universal peace congress in 1913 should be held at The Hague. The peace palace is the embodiment of the idea which gave birth to the peace congresses, and it is the conviction that The Hague is the royal residence of that "favored country," as Holland may be called with regard to international law, which made Stood proclaim The Hague, the capital of the world and which made Mr. Carnegie choose it as the spot where the peace palace was to be erected. This year's congress will be under the high patronage of his royal highness, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, Duke of Mecklenburg.

SMALL MILL GIRL COMPLAINS OF LAW

That Prevents Her From Playing the Role of Little Mother—A Problem for School Authorities

A letter addressed to The Sun by a fourteen-year-old girl suggests the complications which will be brought about in this city by the new law which prohibits the employment in factories of children, between the ages of 14 and 16 years, more than eight hours a day. The letter:

Dear Editor:

I am fourteen years of age and have graduated from the grammar school, and now I am working in the mill. I am the oldest one of five and my father is of no assistance to us. I think it is a shame that I am not to be allowed to work more than 45 hours a week. I am willing to go to evening school and graduate from evening school. Will you please print this in your paper? M. E. F. R.

Our correspondent is evidently an ambitious little girl who is anxious to support her four little brothers and sisters. The very sad part of her letter is contained in her reference to her father. It may be that some way will be found to help this little bread earner, whose whole life and soul is wrapped up in her little brothers and sisters; this little mother who wants to work more than forty-eight hours a week and attend evening school.

Many Children Discharged

Already the new law has caused the discharge of many children in the mills because of the inability of the mill superintendents to adjust the working time to agree with the law. Many mill bosses, it is stated, are planning to hire a man in place of two children so that the departments can run on full time.

Another difficulty will have to be faced by the school department. The High school is already pretty well crowded, but it will receive a tremendous influx this September on account of this new law unless the mills find some means of employing children.

Are Forced to Wait

The average age of boys and girls graduating from the grammar school, like our correspondent, is 13 and 14 years. Many of them went to work after graduation, but now they may be forced to wait until they are sixteen and the result will be that the majority of them will enter the high school, causing the freshman class to be a very large one.

Again the children who entered the high school at 13 years of age, to remain one year until they would be able to go to work will now continue their studies, and thus the sophomore class will not be reduced as has happened in former years. The school department will probably have to take measures to provide more rooms and perhaps more teachers this fall.

SULZER IMPEACHED

Is Charged With Diverting Campaign Funds to Private Use and Making False Oath—All Night Session

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Monday, Sept. 22, was this afternoon made a tentative selection for the date of trying Governor Sulzer on the impeachment charges. This selection, subject to change, was reached at a conference of Senator Wagner, president pro tem of the senate, with judges of the court of appeals.

Mr. Sulzer will resist removal of office, refuse to recognize Lieut. Gov. Glynn as acting governor, and use every weapon in his power to retain his office before, during and after his trial for impeachment, regardless of the verdict. The formal notification that the assembly had voted to impeach the governor was presented by a committee of the assembly appointed earlier in the day. Majority Leader Wagner assured the committee "that proper action" would be taken.

IMPEACHMENT OF GOV. SULZER RAISES A VITAL QUESTION

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The impeachment of Governor Sulzer by the assembly early today, has raised a vital question as to whether, under the constitution, the governor will vacate his office pending final adjudication of the impeachment issue by the senate and court of appeals, sitting jointly, as a trial court.

The indications are that Mr. Sulzer will contest the theory of the opposition that he becomes automatically barred from exercising the functions of the office the moment the articles of impeachment are formally presented to the senate and that he will be disqualified from resuming the duties of executive until the court of impeachment fails to sustain these charges.

This contention was given emphatic public utterance today by Judge Lynn J. Arnold, one of the governor's counsel. Judge Arnold called on the governor soon after he reached the capitol today, following by a few minutes Judge D'Arcy, Herriek of counsel for the executive.

Word was sent out to the waiting newspaper men that the governor probably would have nothing to say during the day. When Chester C. Platt, secretary to the governor, was asked if any progress had been made in formulating the governor's legal program he answered: "None that we care to speak of at this time."

Fine Morning, Said Sulzer

The governor reached the capitol shortly after 11 o'clock. He smiled cheerily to correspondents who greeted him as he mounted the steps of the capitol, and poked good naturedly for a battery of camera men. "It's a fine morning, gentlemen," he said.

Lieutenant Governor Martin H. Glynn came into Albany from his summer home at Cedar Hill during the forenoon and went to his newspaper office as usual. He declined to comment on the situation.

The fact that the various state departments and bureaus are divided in their allegiance to the executive and the democratic organization which is seeking to depose him, stimulates interest in the complicated situation. The possibility of two men endeavoring to discharge the functions of the chief executive at the same time suggests a condition that the courts alone would have power to deal with.

Governor Sulzer, according to a close friend, already has drafted, with the advice of his counsel, a letter embodying his reasons for refusing to turn over his office to Mr. Glynn in anticipation of such a demand. Immediately following official reception of the articles of impeachment by the senate, in addition to counsel now in the city, Austin G. Fox is reported to have been summoned from New York. The senate was not expected to meet until late in the afternoon.

GOV. SULZER IMPEACHED DESPITE ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT OF WIFE TO SAVE HIM

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Governor William Sulzer was impeached at 5:15 o'clock this morning by the democratic majority in the assembly of the New York legislature after an all-night session and after his wife had made an eleventh hour effort to save him at the risk of sacrificing her own reputation. Organization leaders who had sparred for time all night in the fear that their program of impeachment would be wrecked by lack of votes welcomed newcomers to the assembly chamber during the early hours and, assured of victory by their presence, proceeded to the adoption of impeachment resolution, the vote standing 75 to 45.

Findings of Investigators

Long articles of impeachment, embodying the findings of the Frawley investigations, were read.

A Sample of Efficiency

People who had occasion to go to the farther end of Rogers street this afternoon where the macadam road is being rebuilt were treated to a fine exhibition of efficiency in road building. Six men with picks were tearing up the old macadam road and nearby was a steam roller with steam up and the engineer sitting by the roadside waiting for something to do. The road roller with spikes inserted could tear up as much of that macadam road in one hour as the six men with picks could do in a week, but those in charge probably didn't know it and if they did they were very likely interested in providing jobs for six men and one engineer. The majority of people who rode by on the cars were of the opinion that this was a splendid method as it furnished work for the men and helped to increase the tax rate, but to people of ordinary intelligence it looked as if the seven men might be worked to better advantage. The six men wielding the picks could be put to work doing something that steam rollers cannot do while the engineer with the steam roller could rip up the road in five minutes. The result would be more work done on the road and more rapid construction of highways for a long suffering public and seven men would be just as well off. But what's the odds? The fool public pays the bill so cheerfully.

SPRINGFIELD GIRL WHO VISITED HERE

Tired of Life in Haverhill—Turned on Gas and Took Poison—Is Dying in Hospital

Mabel Keyes, a beautiful Springfield girl, who was registered at the Y. W. C. A. in this city not long ago, is dying of poison and gas fumes at the City hospital in Haverhill.

While waiting for the poison which she had swallowed to overcome her, and in order to make certain of her self-destruction, the unfortunate girl turned on the gas in her room at the Young Women's Christian Association, in that city, yesterday.

Little is known about the girl either in this city or in Haverhill, but that she intended suicide is indicated in a farewell note found in her room unsealed. It was addressed to Mrs. Cheney, at West Dudley, apparently a relative, in which she stated that she would be at rest before night. Another letter addressed to Mrs. Keyes, and evidently her mother, was also found, but it was sealed and has not been opened.

When the doctor, who had been summoned by the Y. W. C. A. in Haverhill, reached Miss Keyes, it was discovered that in addition to the effects of four corrosive sublimate tablets, which she had dissolved in an ounce of water and then swallowed so that the work which the gas failed to do was left to the drug to accomplish.

Was Here Two Weeks Ago

Miss Keyes went to Haverhill from the Y. W. C. A. in this city. She had indicated that she was despondent because of her failure to obtain work, but so far as is known, she did not seek employment here. The Sun, this forenoon, made inquiry at the local Y. W. C. A. and found that Mabel Keyes had spent two nights there, July 28 and 29. A young woman with whom she talked quite freely at the association rooms in John street, said that Miss Keyes did not mention anything about employment and did not seem at all despondent.

The Haverhill Story

The following story of the tragedy is from the Haverhill Gazette:

Miss Keyes was abroad reasonably early yesterday morning and had breakfast. She afterward telephoned to someone in the city, but officials at the home do not know whether she sent a farewell message to a friend or made a last appeal for employment. That message was sent at about 8 o'clock.

Shortly before 11 o'clock Miss Charlotte M. Minott, matron at the home, visited the linen closet which is next to the room occupied by Miss Keyes and the odor of gas attracted her attention. She traced it to Miss Keyes' room and found the door unlocked. Entering she was nearly overcome by the gas fumes but quickly sized up the situation—that the room was filled with gas and that the young woman lay stretched on the floor unconscious. Summoning aid, Miss Minott sent out several calls for physicians, but it was at a time when the physicians were on their morning visits.

Among those who responded to the first call for assistance was Miss Mary, a nurse who lives at the Y. W. C. A. and her practiced eye determined the seriousness of the case.

Box and Glass Told Story

When several efforts to connect with a physician had failed, a messenger was despatched to Emerson street and white telephones were ringing in other offices the messenger was visiting those on Emerson street, and she arrived in season to find Dr. Bernice Bartlett in her office. The doctor responded and took charge of the case at the Y. W. C. A., giving first attention to resuscitation from the illuminating gas which was thought to be the cause of ineffectuality.

The patient responded to Dr. Bartlett's treatment but then it was discovered that she was suffering from poison.

A tablet box and a small medicine glass told the story of the taking of the poison—four corrosive sublimate tablets in an ounce of water and they had been at their work for more than two hours.

Dr. Bartlett ordered the patient's commitment to the hospital and a short time later when Dr. W. Anthony and H. L. Conner arrived, they concurred in the belief that the case was serious enough to require hospital treatment. Miss Keyes was taken in the police ambulance to the City hospital.

RAIN STOPPED GAME

Lowell and Worcester Players Got Wet

The first game of the double-header between Lowell and Worcester at Spaulding park, this afternoon was called off on account of rain after Bushelman had batted in the fourth. Umpire Stafford called time until the rain was over. The league rule relating to the calling of a game on account of rain reads as follows: "When in the opinion of the umpire, whether inclemently hampers play, the umpire shall call both teams from the diamond until weather conditions are suitable for play. Thirty minutes will be the limit during which play in that game shall be resumed." At the end of 30 minutes it was still raining and the first game was therefore called off. The rule relating to the second game of a double header states that if the weather is suitable two hours before sundown the game shall be called. The had spots on the diamond were dried up by burning gasoline over them, and when the grounds were pronounced suitable, the Lowell men started to take their positions. Rain, however, again descended, causing another interruption.

When the shower interfered Worcester was ahead, 1 to 0. Both Bushelman and Zieser were pitching good ball. Worcester scored her only tally in the third inning. Zieser knocked down, but could not recover McCune's grounder. Ryerson sacrificed him to second. Shorten scored the Worcester first baseman with a clean single to left. Bushelman held Lowell hitless for the three innings.

STUDY PROBLEM OF RURAL CREDITS TO ATTACK AMERICAN INTERESTS

Pres. Wilson Issued Statement Before Caucus Resumed Consideration of Currency Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Wilson issued a statement before the democratic house caucus resumed consideration of the administration currency bill today, announcing that he believed it not advisable to amend the measure at present with provisions for rural credits but to postpone that phase of banking reform until the December session, when the government commission now studying the subject in Europe will have reported.

Again and again during the discussion of the currency bill it has been urged that special provision should be made in it for the facilitation of such credits as the farmers of the country most stand in need of—agricultural credit as distinguished from ordinary commercial and industrial credits.

"Such proposals were not adopted because such credits could be only imperfectly provided for in such a measure. The scope and character of the bill, its immediate and chief purpose, could not be made to reach as far as the special interests of the farmer requirements.

Service to Whole Country

"Special machinery and a distinct system of banking must be provided for if rural credits are to be successfully and adequately supplied. A government commission is now in Europe studying the interesting and highly successful methods which have been employed in several countries of the old world, and its report will be made to congress at a regular session next winter. It is confidently to be expected that the congress will at that session act upon the recommendations of that report and establish a complete and adequate system of rural credits. There is no subject so important to the welfare or the industrial development of the United States; there is no reform in which I would myself feel it a greater honor or privilege to take part, because I should feel that it was a service to the whole country of the first magnitude and significance. It should have accompanied and gone hand in hand with the reform of our banking and currency system if we had been ready to act wisely and with full knowledge of what we were about.

Neglected Disadvantages

"There has been too little federal legislation framed to serve the farmer directly and with a deliberate adjustment to his real needs. We long ago fell into the habit of assuming that the farmers of America enjoyed such an immense natural advantage over the farmers of the rest of the world, were so intelligent and enterprising and so at ease upon the incomparable soils of our great continent, that they could feed the world and prosper no matter what handicap they carried no matter what disadvantage, whether of the law or of natural circumstances they labored under. We have not exaggerated their capacity or their opportunity, but we have neglected to analyze the burdensome disadvantages from which they were suffering and have too often failed to remove them when we did see what they were.

"Our farmers must have means afforded them of handling their financial needs, easily and inexpensively. They should be furnished these facilities before their enterprises languish, not afterward.

"And they will be. This is our next great task and duty. Not only is a government commission about to report, which is charged with appraising the progress of the best methods employed in this matter but the department of agriculture has also undertaken a serious and systematic study of the whole problem of rural credits. The congress and the executive, working together will certainly afford the needed machinery of relief and prosperity to the people of the country—sides and that very soon."

Alleged to be Concerned in Revolutionary Activities in Mexico—Report of Special Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Certain American interests alleged to be concerned in revolutionary activities in Mexico will be attacked in the report of the special senate committee which investigated conditions along the border.

Senator Smith of Michigan, chairman, laid an outline today before the committee on foreign relations, indicating the report would deal particularly with activities of American representatives of the revolutionists and the aid they are reported to have received from the American side of the border in the Madero uprising and succeeding revolutions.

A conference between President Wilson and the house committee on foreign affairs will be held soon.

JAPANESE PRESS COMMENTS ON REQUEST TO POSTPONE VISIT OF GEN. DIAZ

TOKIO, Japan, Aug. 13.—The Japanese press, commenting today on Japan's request to Mexico to postpone the visit of General Felix Diaz on account of the absence of the emperor at Nikko, expresses the opinion that it was feared the visit might prove embarrassing and was liable to be made the basis of an anti-American demonstration. It was for this reason the visit was put off.

More Than 3000 Children Attend His Picnic at Mountain Rock—Twenty-One Special Cars

Between three and four thousand children gathered in Merrimack square this morning shortly before 9 o'clock and boarded the 21 special cars that were lined along Paige and John streets, waiting to convey the happy youngsters to Mountain Rock park, where the 13th annual annual McManus picnic was held.

The Essex County band, which consisted of 25 pieces, all boys under 15 years of age, was present and furnished an excellent concert which lasted over half an hour. Not a child was late and the patter of little feet and a merry whistle accompanied the selections played by the band. A hurdy-gurdy was also in attendance and played the popular airs to the enjoyment of the children.

Hundreds of people had gathered in the square to listen to the concert and coming from that section of the city and stated that if the playground supervisors were present to keep the crowd away and preserve order they would show a major league brand of baseball. Several practice games were played and other sports were taken part in while waiting for the dinner bell to be sounded but the real sporting program was run off this afternoon.

During the morning the girls played games and grouped around the band and hurdy-gurdy and listened to the concert. The selections by the band were excellent and much credit is due their leader for the fine musical entertainment afforded the picnicers today. Others of the group preferred to walk through the grove and fields and a fine blueberry patch was found in a nearby lot and many of the little ones had a preliminary luncheon in the berry field.

Shortly before 11:30 o'clock a large wagon containing several baskets of lemons, an abundance of coffee, over four thousand ham sandwiches, that had been prepared by Mr. McManus and his assistants and other food arrived on the grounds and work was immediately started to prepare luncheon for over three thousand children, the largest number that has ever attended these annual picnics. The sandwiches were unpacked and the coffee and lemonade made ready and then the children were requested to form in line in front of the old baseball grand stand and pass into the grove while the officers would hand them their food. The children obeyed wonderfully well and besides a little hurrying at times obeyed orders to the letter. It was only a matter of a few minutes before the group had been served and they all sat down in the grove to partake of their dinner and here can imagine those hungry arches seated under the pine trees, enjoying themselves as only children can. Music was furnished during the noon hour by the band.

Big League Timber

After dinner the boys and girls were requested to gather at the ball grounds where the sporting program was to be carried out. The grand stand was filled with the children, mostly girls, while the grounds were covered with colored blouses and little caps. A feature of the afternoon was the baseball game between rival teams from the North common and it is said that the boys have been practising under the direction of Supervisor Charles Donahue for the past two weeks. Each watch the youngsters board the cars and one gentleman with a streak of gray in his mustache stated that many years ago he attended one of these picnics and he wished that he was a boy again if only for today. Many other grown-up boys or elderly men had the same desire and although they had the permission of attending the picnic if they wished their childhood days had gone by and it goes without saying that the days of our youth are the days of our glory.

Promptly at 9 o'clock after the word of Starter Hickey had been given the long line of cars preceded by one limo containing the members of the band passed around the corner of Paige and Bridge streets on the way to the picnic grounds and a larger or more happier group of children never arrived at this popular picnic grounds than those who attended the picnic today. No child was refused a ride on the special cars or luncheon at the grounds and those who had not received tickets were provided for by Mr. McManus before the cars started.

Took Dip in the Lake

Immediately upon their arrival at the grounds the youngsters set out to enjoy themselves. They were divided into groups, the larger making for the lake to enjoy a swim. Officers Dipeolo and Cullen, both expert swimmers, were stationed on the bank of the lake so that the children would not be in any danger of meeting with an accident and they swam along the lake like a group of veterans. Others organized baseball teams and started the national game and it could easily be seen that the North common playgrounds were decorated today as the star teams all identified themselves as team was supported by a large number of followers and every star play received long applause. The game was the centre of attraction for nearly two hours and all who witnessed it surely came away with the feeling that they had received their money's worth. The winning team was given tickets for grand stand seats at the game at Spaulding park tomorrow afternoon and it is understood that Manager Gray's object in getting the youngsters out to the park is to look them over for future reference.

Other sporting numbers were carried out and there were races for all the children and some very close contests were pulled off. Valuable prizes were given to the winners of the different events. The prizes included gold rings for girls' races, man-doll, ticket for trip to Old Orchard beach, baseball glove and many other articles. The sporting program lasted until nearly four o'clock in the afternoon when all reluctantly began to get ready to make the return trip. Music was again played by the Essex county school band and the twenty-one cars were filled with the happy but tired children.

The picnic today was the most successful that has ever been held for the children of Lowell and all parts of the city were represented. Mr. John McManus is responsible for the good time afforded the children today and he was highly complimented for the successful way in which everything connected with the picnic went off.

PORT TO PORT RACING By N.Y. Yacht Club Fleet Continues

MARBLEHEAD, Aug. 13.—Port to port racing by the New York Yacht Club fleet continued today with a 24-mile contest in Massachusetts bay and an anchorage for the night in the harbor of Gloucester. The two harbors are only ten miles apart, so the racing division of the squadron was sent over two sides of a long triangle, with the start at Half Way rock, the turn at Boston lightship and the finish at Eastern Point.

The greater part of the summer colony along the north shore from Nahant to Cape Ann sat on the rocks and watched the sport, for the day was very clear.

The cruising section of the fleet, including the big steam yachts, remained in the harbor until well along in the afternoon or past visits to various little coves on the Beverly and Manchester shores. There was a fine wind during the day and it was ideal weather to be on the water.

Interest in Marblehead harbor today was singularly divided. The local yachtsmen spent their time inspecting the New York 55-footers, eight of which were at anchor here before the racing began, while the New York yachtsmen resorted to looking over the harbor and the entrance and even out to Salem bay, and the 59-footers kept well outside in order to be able to swing away for the starting line without being bothered by the small boats.

The steam yacht Corsair, while a somewhat familiar visitor to New England waters, has not been in Marblehead for some years, and was easily the glintiest of the fleet. Her black slides loomed up above the others like a battleship over a torpedo squadron, while her lowering wireless plant also was an attraction. The Corsair's wireless was of considerable assistance last night in sending in the names of the winners, for the greater portion of the racing fleet from Provincetown finished after dark at half way rock, four miles from the harbor.

To obtain the names of the three winners for the Commodore's cup at most as soon as they crossed the line, was of material advantage to the newspaper men following the fleet.

The Eastern Yacht club was a busy place today, for the visiting yachtsmen made it their headquarters and special telegraph wires were installed to handle the rush of private messages.

The club house force was nearly doubled in order to care for the wants of the visitors. The house committee headed by Parkman Dexter and seconded by Secretary Stephen W. Sloper did everything in its power to supply the wants and desires of the New Yorkers.

There were four commodores in Marblehead harbor today, and a small squadron of vice and rear commodores. Commodore Dallas B. Pratt of the New York Yacht club was on the black schooner Sea Fox, Commodore Robert Treat Palmer, 2nd, was on the black schooner Constance, having transferred his flag last night, while Commodore E. H. Johnson of the Baltimore Yacht club flew his yacht pennant from the white steam yacht Margaret. The commodore of the Corinthian Yacht club was also in the harbor.

Vice Commodore Herbert M. Sears of the East Yacht club was on the steamer Hope, and Rear Commodore C. H. W. Foster of the same club was on the ketch Autocrat. Rear Commodore J. P. Morgan's white flag of the New York Yacht club flew from the Corsair, although Mr. Morgan did not come around the cape with the fleet. His 50-footer Grayling was sailed by his son Junius S. Morgan, the Harvard oarsman.

AND HAVING TO DO WITH THE CITY OF LOWELL

The 13th census of the United States has been completed and shows some very interesting facts concerning Lowell and surrounding cities, comparing the populations, nationalities, etc., of the various cities in Middlesex county.

The book is very interesting and should be kept for reference. This work, however, contains statistics up to 1910 only, that is for a period of ten years. It shows that Lowell's increase in population has been very slow during the decade ending in 1910, and that the Spindle city has a larger percentage of native population than any mill city in this country.

The following facts are culled from the report:

Thirty-three per cent. of Lowell's population is between the ages of 25 and 40 years.

Lowell has the largest percentage of unmarried males and unmarried females among the four mill cities of the state.

Lowell is second in school attendance among these same cities, Fall River leading.

The percentage of illiterates in Lowell is lower than in any other of the mill cities, while the percentage in Lawrence is the highest.

Lowell has the largest number of persons having establishments but its increase in value of products during the years 1900-1910 was the smallest of any one of the four mill cities.

The Irish born population of Lowell is larger than in any one of the other cities. Its French-Canadian population is second in number to that of Fall River.

Lowell has the largest number of persons born in the maritime provinces, but it is fourth in the number of its English born population. It is the only city in New England having any considerable Greek population. It has the smallest number of Italian residents of any one of the four mill cities and it leads in the number of its Scotch and Swedish residents, among the cities above referred to.

Not Growing Rapidly

Lowell's increase in population during the ten years from 1900 to 1910 was not great, being but 11.5, while the town from 1850 to 1900 was nearly double that, or 22.5 per cent.

Lowell shows the greatest increase in the state, or 34.8 per cent. from 1900 to 1910, and 53.3 from 1850 to 1910. Lowell stands 23rd in percentage increase out of 25 cities in the state.

By the head of color, race, nationality and percentage, Lowell shows an all round population of 15.5 per cent. of its total. This is greater than Fall River, which has but 13.2 native born, but which, while Lawrence does but 12.5 per cent., with 12.5 native born, while Lawrence does but 12.5 per cent., with 12.5 native born, while Lawrence does but 12.5 per cent., with 12.5 native born.

The new pavilion at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Nahant that was described in these columns one week ago was dedicated with impressive services last night. A dinner was served early in the evening and an entertainment was furnished by the boys. Many of the Y. M. C. A. directors and others interested in this work attended the affair and a number of the Nahant campers were present at the entertainment.

By the way, Empire White is a bit of an orator himself. He sure does delight in ripping off a few polysyllables when he steps up to the plate to announce stats. And we are obliged to say that he always gets away with it, too.

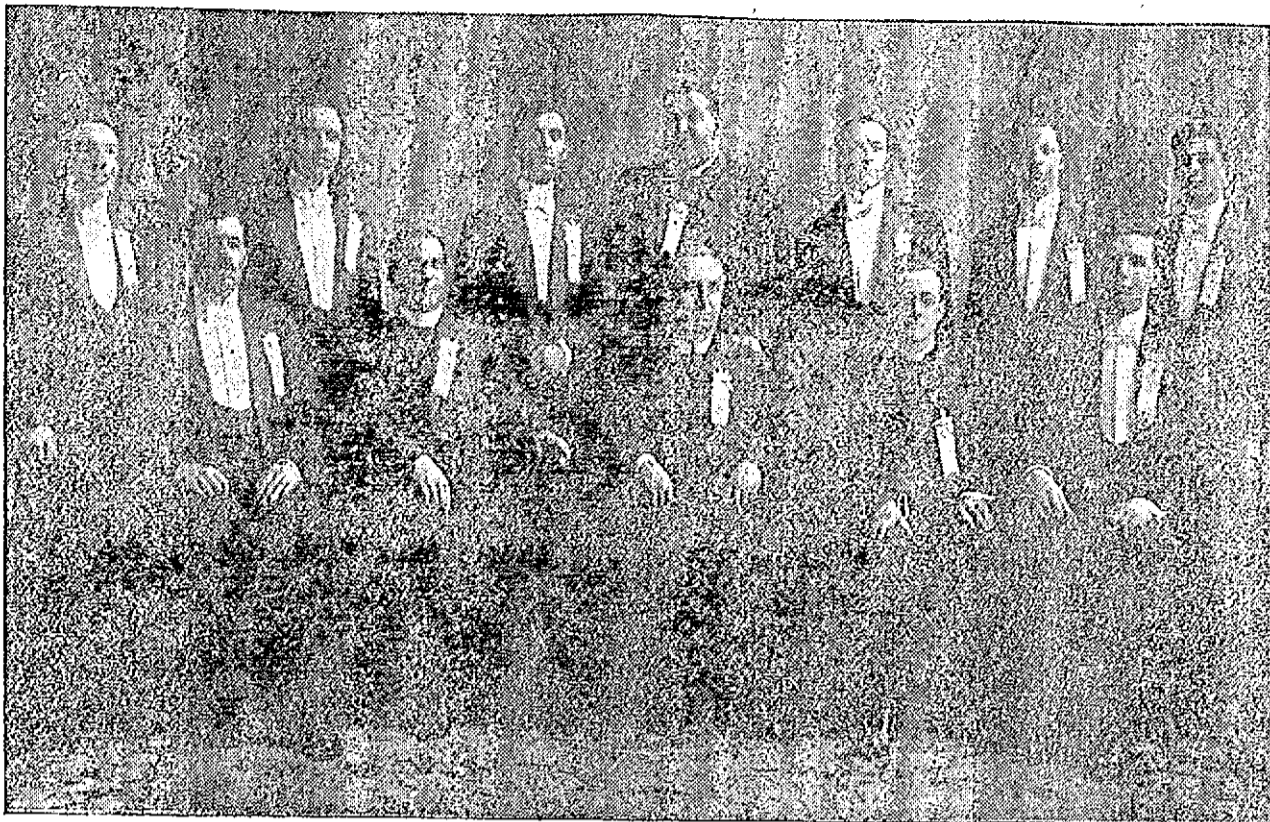

Aubrey is slower than when he came to Lowell on account of his bad leg, but the same he is one good man on the job.

DeGroff has hit twice this week in pinches. If the Rubs keeps up this pace we will also have to take back some of the harsh criticisms we have made on lack of pinch hitting ability. Miller also is performing better in the field since this column was set to take him to task. If he is up, boys, and we'll have to hand it to you.

The second division teams are all playing real baseball these days. New Bedford and Fall River in particular have improved over their early season conduct. Let us hope they won't boost their averages at our expense.

DIRECTORS OF ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE TAKE OFFICE

REV. BRO. PRISCILLIANUS, S. M., GUEST OF HONOR

OLD EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF ALUMNI

Standing: E. J. Larochelle, A. J. Eac, R. E. Jodoin, Rev. Bro. Priscillianus, S. M., E. S. Desmarais, J. P. Montminy, E. G. Ricard.
Sitting: W. P. Caisse, Jr., Rev. J. Racette, D. M. L., Rev. Bro. Chrysouli, S. M., Rev. J. M. Blais, O. M. L., H. V. Charbonneau.

It was a happy gathering that took place at the home of the Marist brothers in Moody street last night, when the recently elected directors of St. Joseph's college alumni were inducted into office. The occasion was also a farewell reception to the guest of honor at the second annual reunion of the alumni which took place last Thursday. Rev. Bro. Priscillianus, S. M., of Quebec, a former director of the school.

The host of the evening was Rev. Brother Leon Bernardin, S. M., director of the college, who had extended an invitation to the young men, and all agreed that the brother has a way of his own to entertain which cannot be surpassed. The guests gathered at the well appointed home of the brothers shortly after 8 o'clock, and from that time until a late hour, it was a season of merriment.

Vocal and instrumental selections as well as readings were in order, and every one present contributed his share of the program. Old class choruses were sung, much to the delight of Brother Priscillianus, who also joined in the singing. At the close of the evening, the president of the alumni, Wolfred P. Caisse, Jr., extended best wishes to the visitor in behalf of the alumni, and assured him there is always a warm spot in the hearts of his former pupils for one whom they learned to love and respect, and concluded by saying he hoped Brother Priscillianus would at the next reunion return to Lowell for a few days at least.

The brother, who always thought of the Spindie city, where for many years was instructor and director, assured the "boys" although stationed to the beautiful city of Quebec, he has never forgotten those who for so long have been in his care. He said it is always a great pleasure for him to return to Lowell, for he knows he is always welcome, for outside of his native place, Chazelle sur Lyon, France, there is no city in the world so attractive to him as good old Lowell.

The brother took occasion to review the years since those present were in his care at St. Joseph's college, and took particular pains to learn what has become of the older boys, inquiring investigation committee in substance may ready for presentation in the desk of Majority Leader Levy hours before the organization trusted its impeachment resolution to a roll call. With the adoption of this resolution and the creation of a committee, headed by Mr. Levy, to prepare the articles, a recess was taken. Mr. Levy and his associates went through the formality of retelling, to reappear within an hour and read the articles to the speaker's desk with a resolution that they be adopted.

Adoption of Resolutions
A roll call showed the adoption of the resolution by a vote of 79 to 32. A committee was appointed to acquaint the senate with the assembly's findings at the meeting of the senate scheduled for 11 o'clock today. Majority Leaders asserted their belief that with the presentation to the senate of the articles of impeachment William Sulzer would automatically cease to be governor and that Gov. Martin H. Glynn would assume the office functions as acting governor. Mr. Sulzer's lawyers entertained a different view.

Impeachment Proceedings
With the adoption of the articles and the appointment of the two committees, the assembly proceeded by the adoption of a resolution calling for the appointment of nine managers to conduct, on behalf of the lower house, the impeachment proceedings, and Speaker Smith announced its membership as follows:

Levy of New York, chairman; McMahon of New York, Greenberg of New York, Gilson of Kings Ward of New York, Fitzgerald of Erie, Madden of the Bronx, T. K. Smith of Onondaga and Schmeider of Ontario.

Consider Vote by Sulzer
Thereafter, under the head of unfinished business, the assembly took up consideration of the so-called tell bridge bill passed at the extraordinary session and vetoed by the governor.

The bill was re-passed unanimously over the governor's veto. Many members had been slumbering in their seats during the tedious hours of the prolonged debate. Others, buoyed no longer by the excitement attendant upon the expectation of a roll call, on the impeachment resolution, leaned back in their chairs and closed their eyes. When the tell bridge bill had been passed, Speaker Smith, leaning forward, swept with his eyes rows of men, with their heads thrust down on their bosoms and their eyes closed.

"A number of the members, I take it are asleep in their chairs," he thundered, bringing his gavel down with a resounding thump on his desk. "Members will please answer when their names are called."

The assembly then took up the next matter on the schedule of unfinished business, the Blauvelt short election bill, passed at the extraordinary session, designed to reduce election expenses in the rural districts, and vetoed by the governor because it conflicted with his own direct primary bill. The heavy-eyed assembly passed it over the veto by 105 to 5.

With this out of the way the assembly adjourned at 7:30 o'clock to meet again at 11 o'clock.

Police Carried Nightsticks
Two hundred spectators, remnant of a throng that surged in overwhelming numbers through the capital last night, walked out of the assembly chamber. The heaviest guard of uniformed police ever sent into the capitol, each armed with night sticks and revolvers, walked out, leaving the assembly chamber to solitude.

In the executive mansion where Mrs. Sulzer made, last night, what her friends call her confession to save her husband, Gov. Sulzer sat till almost dawn, awaiting the verdict, there was no sign of life when the legislature adjourned.

"The governor knew pretty well what would be the result," was the only word from the executive mansion. The governor had left orders that he was not to be disturbed under any circumstances.

Mrs. Sulzer's Declaration
In the light of the revelations contained in Mrs. Sulzer's declaration to Senator Palmer yesterday afternoon, Gov. Sulzer's friends are inclined today to view the ordeal which confronts him with less apprehension than before his impeachment. But her assertion that she diverted part of the campaign contributions sent her husband to private purposes without his knowledge and used them to purchase stocks in Wall street, she has shorn the articles of impeachment of many of their terrors, his friends declare.

Gov. Sulzer consented to permit Mrs. Sulzer's declaration to become public late last night only when he found that he could not prevent it and that it lived as a rumor on the lips of every member of the assembly in the city. A close friend of both Gov. and Mrs. Sulzer so asserted today. Mrs. Sulzer, it is thought, will take the witness stand in her husband's behalf before the court of impeachment, tell her story in detail, and submit to examination by hostile lawyers. Friends say she sought the governor a week ago to permit her to tell the story to the public.

May Refuse to Vacate
What attitude Gov. Sulzer would take in this matter as well toward the question of vacating his office when the senate receives the articles of impeachment brought forth with divergence of view among his friends and opponents today. The majority leaders professed to believe he would not attempt to continue to hold office, but relinquish the office to Lieutenant Glynn pending the outcome of the trial before the court of impeachment.

According to the quoted expression of Lewis Marshall, counsel for Mr. Sulzer, the language of the constitution is not clear on this point and governor Sulzer could give himself the benefit of the doubt by refusing to vacate the office.

Many members of the assembly appealed to Speaker Smith to be released from further attendance today, but all such requests were denied, the speaker announcing that business of urgency would require the presence of every member when the assembly convened at 11 o'clock.

Filled False Statement

The articles of impeachment, based on evidence taken by the Fraxley legislative committee, charged that, as governor-elect, William Sulzer filed a false statement of campaign contributions with the secretary of state, causing "great scandal and reproach of the governor of the state of New York," that said statement did not contain all the contributions that had been received by him and that in making and filing such false statement he was "guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury."

Article three alleges that while governor, Mr. Sulzer "fraudulently induced" Lewis H. Sarecky, Frederick L. Colwell and Melville B. Fuller to withhold testimony from the Fraxley investigating committee and that in doing he was guilty of a felony.

Used Threats and Menaces

It is further alleged in the next article that the governor "practiced deceit and fraud and used threats and menaces" with intent to prevent the committee and other persons subpoenaed from producing books and papers desired by the committee, thereby being guilty of a misdemeanor.

It is further charged that prior to his election the governor appropriated campaign contributions to his own use "and used the same, or a large part thereof, in speculating in stock to brokers operating on the New York stock exchange and thereby stole such checks and was guilty of larceny."

Campaign Contributions

Among the contributors mentioned are: Jacob H. Schiff, $2500; Abram I. Elkus, $500; William F. McCombs, $500; Henry Morgenthau, $1000; John Lynn, $500; Theodore W. Myers, $1000; Lyman A. Spaulding, $100; Edward F. O'Dwyer, $100; John A. Cox, $500; Frank V. Strauss company, $1000; and John T. Dooling, $1000 and cash aggregating $32,850.

The governor is charged with having promised and threatened to use the authority and influence of the office of governor for the purpose of affecting the vote or political action of certain public officers, including Assemblyman S. G. Thayer of Essex, and Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oswego.

Concealed Identity

It is alleged that the governor corruptly used his authority as governor to affect the prices of securities on the New York stock exchange in some of which he was speculating, carrying, buying or selling upon a margin or otherwise; recommending and pressing for passage of legislation affecting the business of the exchange, and "then by withdrawing, or attempting to withdraw from the consideration of the legislature such legislation which was pending therein—all the time concealing his identity in said transaction by a subterfuge."

The assembly demands that the governor answer concerning all these matters before the court which is to hear the charges and offers to present proof of "the said matters at such time as the honorable court for the trial of impeachment may order and appoint."

CITY ACCEPTS COMFORT STATION

Keys Were Turned Over to Mayor
Jas. E. O'Donnell Today—Will be
Formally Opened Saturday

The comfort station recently constructed in Palace street, is now finished and this noon was formally accepted by the city of Lowell, and it will be open on Saturday morning. The station is a matter of fact has been finished for a few days, but inasmuch as the city government was waiting for an opinion from the city solicitor as to which department the said station would be assigned, the place was not formally accepted until this noon, the opinion having been given at yesterday's meeting.

At noon a conference was held in the mayor's office at city hall, when the keys of the station were turned over to the mayor, who as head of the health department will be in charge. Present at the conference were Mayor James Perkins, Commissioner Cummings, and the public building department, Inspector Francis A. Conner of the same department, City Solicitor Hennessy, Architect Henry L. Bourke and Mrs. Patrick Conlin, widow of the late Patrick Conlin, who had charge of the general contract. She was represented by counsel.

It is just 11 months ago today that the contract for the construction of the comfort station was signed, and the place would have been ready long ago had not the contractor met with a pretty hard proposition when a solid ledge was struck while digging for the foundation of the station. An old water system was also reached and it required a lot of work and time to put the station in a good dry condition.

However, the station is now ready and will be formally opened Saturday morning. The caretaker of the place, E. O'Donnell, Commissioner Cummings will be appointed tomorrow by Mayor Perkins.

REP. WATSON GOT $250 A WEEK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Henry B. Towne, of New York, told the senate today about the formation of the national tariff commission association of which he was once president. Martin M. Mulhall had testified that the National Association of Manufacturers was the chief factor in its organization.

Towne testified the association was formed at an Indianapolis convention in 1905 called by Henry R. Hays, at which 232 commercial organizations were represented. Thousands of contributors included the manufacturers and the merchants association of New York.

Former Representative James E. Watson was employed by the association in April, 1909, after he left congress. Towne testified in explaining two $500 drafts on the manufacturers drawn to Watson. He said the manufacturers had promised to contribute $1000 and gave it in form of two drafts.

DISARMED AFTER FIERCE FIGHT

Dr. Dabney, Crazy Surgeon, Who
Was Subdued While Dissecting
Patient, Sent to Asylum

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 13.—With the commitment to Long View asylum in Cincinnati today of Dr. William R. Dabney, there has come to light one of the most remarkable chapters in medical history.

Not until the crazy surgeon had undertaken to perform vivisection upon a patient was it realized by the attendants in the operating room that madness was directing the scalpel in an effort to uncover vital organs.

Dr. Dabney entered practice in Marietta about 15 years ago. He made a specialty of eye, ear and throat operations.

For several months previous to his mental collapse and the startling revelations of his condition, rarely a day passed that he did not perform two or three difficult operations.

It was the death on the operating table of an aged and wealthy farmer, Jacob F. Schaad, that brought Dr. Dabney's career to a climax. Schaad had a tumorous growth on his upper jaw. He consulted Dr. Dabney and was assured that a minor operation would remove the disfigurement.

Dr. Dabney began to dissect Schaad's face and throat. Both sides of the face were laid open and deep incisions made to the throat. But the skill of the mad surgeon was shown in the dexterity with which he avoided inflicting a fatal wound.

How far the crazy surgeon would have proceeded with the dissection cannot be told, for the horrified nurse ran shrieking that Dr. Dabney was killing his patient. Her cries brought Drs. Ballard and Penrose with several of the hospital attendance to the rescue and Dr. Dabney, by this time a taving maniac, brandishing his scalpel over the unconscious living subject, was disarmed and subdued after a desperate struggle.

CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT WILSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Homer S. Cummings, vice president of the democratic national committee, conferred with President Wilson today on plans for the congressional campaign in the Third Maine, James G. Blaine's old district, where a special election is to be held on Sept. 2 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Representative Goodwin.

He denied that the tariff commission association tried to put men on the tariff board. In four years, he said, the commission had raised about $30,000.

Towne testified Watson was employed by the tariff association from April to June, 1909, and on cross examination he was paid $250 a week.

"Watson was employed because he was close to the 'Cannon machine,'" demanded Senator Reed. "I don't know about that," said Towne.

NEW CROSS BREED OF HORSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Experts of the bureau of animal industry believe they have discovered a new cross breed of horse that will prove as tough and useful as the mule and yet have the intelligence and speed of the full blood horse. This decision has been reached after experiments made by breeding "Dan," the Greavy zebra from the national zoological gardens, to a Morgan mare at the Maryland experimental farm of the department of agriculture. The resultant foal has been highly praised by horsemen and the breeders are urging that the government import as many more zebras of the same strain as can be procured for the purpose of establishing the new breed.

STATE PROBE ORDERED THREW TEAPOT AT GIRL

Charges Concerning Life Saving Fund

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Atty. Gen. Swift, who has before him charges concerning the collection of funds for the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps, said yesterday afternoon that the charges involved the collection of funds by persons who receive certain percentage of them, and that the inquiry might extend much further than this association.

Mr. Swift said that he had been told of a number of charitable associations which collect funds in the same way. He would not state his opinion as to the legality of the procedure.

The organization in question is incorporated as a charitable association. It has for treasurer William J. Jackson of Boston, who yesterday was asked by the attorney general's office to give some facts about the matter. This, Jackson is said to be willing to do.

The association maintains volunteer life saving crews at beaches and other shore resorts. The commission for collection amounts, it is said, to about 40 per cent. of the total. The collector pays his own expenses out of this.

In his probe Mr. Swift has conferred with Chief Whitney of the state police.

BARS OFF MILL WINDOWS

Fire Commissioner Says They are Dangerous

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Fire Commissioner Cole wants all iron bars and screens on the windows of factories removed from the first and second floors. The commissioner made this recommendation yesterday to a special committee of the legislature which is investigating conditions surrounding the employment of women and children.

The commissioner also recommended horizontal fire escapes that run around the entire building in preference to vertical fire escapes. In a crowded factory building vertical fire escapes lead to panics. They are unable to accommodate more than 60 people at a time, while a horizontal fire escape is able to accommodate all the occupants of each floor, and permits moving to a place of safety pending the arrival of the fire apparatus.

All possible means of exit are necessary in case of fire, the commissioner says, and iron bars and screens prevent the occupants from getting out of the windows in case of fire, and also prevent the firemen from getting into the building.

Robber Then Made His Escape in Chelsea

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—While Fanny Hammerstein, 17 years old, daughter of Frank Hammerstein, 125 Elm street, Chelsea, was asleep last night, a burglar entered her bedroom, and the girl waking up, screamed loudly for help. Grabbing a teapot which happened to be handy the burglar hurled it at the girl. He did not hurt her, but it made quite a dent in the teapot.

Mr. Hammerstein, with the assistance of his neighbors, chased the burglar some distance but without success.

ENDS LIFE WITH GAS

Sweetheart Phoned She Would Not Marry Him

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Ten minutes after Harry M. Pascall, 24, of 160 Main street, Medford, had received word over the telephone from his sweetheart that she would not marry him, the young man went to his attic bed chamber and committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas through a tube attached to a gas jet.

The body was discovered a half an hour later at 3:30 o'clock by his mother, who smelled gas and traced it to his room. Mrs. Pascall rushed down stairs and notified G. A. Nutter, owner of a drug store, who telephoned for a physician. Medical Examiner Durell of Somerville was called and pronounced the young man a suicide.

Pascall, who was married four years ago to Gertrude, a Medford girl, had trouble with his wife last spring and she left him, taking with her their two children, one of whom has since died. Within the last few months Mrs. Pascall, the youth's mother, declared that her son had become infatuated with another girl and has said that he could not live without her.

CONFESSES TO KILLING SISTER

Woman Admits Shooting Her Through the Head While Asleep

Then Dragged the Body Into Cellar and Hid It Under Washtubs

WEST RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 13.—Mrs. Eugene McCarthy, 55 years old, confessed yesterday, according to the police, that she had murdered her sister, Miss Alice Kerrigan, five years her junior, who had been missing since a slight quarrel between the two last Friday.

Following the directions given in the alleged confession the police found the body of Miss Kerrigan, with a bullet hole through the head, buried beneath a pile of dirt and covered by two wash tubs.

Beyond saying that there had been a trifling argument, Mrs. McCarthy, the police say, could give the officials no reason for her act.

They stated that she would probably be submitted to a mental examination after appearing in the local court today on a charge of murder.

Killed on Couch
"Yes, I killed my sister. I shot her through the head while she was lying on a couch. She wouldn't agree with me, so I went upstairs and got a gun. Then I dragged her body into the cellar and buried it under a couple of tubs. You'll find it there."

This was Mrs. McCarthy's confession as given out by the police. Their investigation followed queries by William Kerrigan as to the whereabouts of his sister Alice and the receipt of a mysterious telephone call by Deputy Sheriff F. H. Patten. The call purported to have come from Miss Kerrigan, saying that she was all right, that she was visiting friends in Whitehall and that there was no need for alarm. It developed later that the speaker was Mrs. McCarthy, who the police believe, became alarmed at her brother's inquiries after his missing sister. Miss Kerrigan's absence was not known outside of her own home until her brother began his search.

Mother of Eight Children
Miss Kerrigan lived with her father, Michael Kerrigan, on the lower floor of a house on Pleasant street, while Mrs. McCarthy, Kerrigan's other daughter, lived upstairs with her husband, a marble worker, and eight children.

There was no one in the house Friday afternoon except the two women. According to Mrs. McCarthy's story, given out by the police, Miss Kerrigan laid down on a couch in the living room of her father's home, following a dispute, while Mrs. McCarthy went upstairs. Mrs. McCarthy came down again carrying a shot gun. Walking over to the lounge upon which her sister was dozing, she pressed the muzzle to Miss Kerrigan's head and fired.

Death was apparently instantaneous. Mrs. McCarthy, the story continues, said she dragged the body down cellar immediately afterwards. Digging a hole in the dirt floor she put the body into it, replaced the dirt and covered the spot with two tubs.

Death of 72
Her father, who is 72 years old, was outside the house at the time, but knew nothing of what had happened. The police said last night that he still thought that his daughter Alice was visiting somewhere, as Mrs. McCarthy had told. Mrs. McCarthy's children, who were playing nearby, were also in ignorance of the occurrences within the house.

The woman was locked up in the house of correction at Rutland for the night.

EXPRESS TRAIN IN WRECK

N. E. States Limited Split Switch—Cars Smashed

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 13.—The Montreal express, known as the New England States Limited, which left Boston heavily freighted with summer vacationists, was wrecked at 6:15 last night on the Central Vermont rails at West Berlin, seven miles south of this city.

None of its many passengers were seriously injured. Their escape was remarkable as the big train, plowing ahead at high speed to make up for lost time, entered an open switch, derailing six cars, and came to a stop 200 yards from the steep embankment of the Egg river.

The vestibules of the cars were smashed into splinters. The six coaches, mostly Pullman and dining cars, are lying over at an angle of 45 degrees. By the time the news of the accident had reached this city, a train had been dispatched over the single track and had taken the passengers away. Most of them were brought to Montpelier.

The railroad officials, anxious that only one man, an employee, was badly injured.

At the point known as the South End, between Northfield and Montpelier, is a switch about 500 yards long into this the engine plunged, dragging with it a mail and baggage car. The six coaches which form the train broke the engine at this point. They left the track and the wheels for the most part over a hundred yards with the momentum which had whirled them onward.

Nothing Like It
If you are a lawyer, physician or dentist, why "hide your light under a bushel," so to speak, in a dark, antiquated office, while the New England States Limited affords such splendid accommodations at about the same cost.

Increased $7.00 Per Head by Eradication of Tick—Total Cost Only 50 Cents Per Head

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—That the eradication of the cattle-tick has increased the value of cattle $7.00 per head in certain counties of Mississippi is the report of one of the inspectors of the bureau of animal industry, U. S. department of agriculture. The cost to the people for this eradication in twenty counties was not more than $100,000. In return they have received during the past year $2,145,339 in increased valuation of their cattle and this increase will be permanent so long as the counties are free from ticks. The cost of tick eradication was only 50 cents per head.

That tick has been one of the great deterrents to cattle-raising in the south is a fact which the southern farmers are beginning to appreciate. Up to date, however, these states have not begun to raise the possible number of cattle per acre. The failure of southern farmers to avail themselves of their full opportunities in this line has contributed importantly to the general cattle shortage, which has amounted to 20 per cent since 1906 for the whole country.

The rapid increase of population has meanwhile made necessary a greater supply of meat for consumption. As a consequence, packers are beginning to look to other quarters for a supply. There should, however, be no need of our drawing permanently on the supplies of other countries while the total yearly cattle output may be so greatly improved by tick eradication throughout the south.

Just so long as counties continue to raise ticks, there is scarcely any chance of building up a permanent and profitable cattle industry. For this reason it is encouraging for these farmers still subjected to the scourge to note the wonderful improvement made in districts where there has been a vigorous campaign on the part of the county for the destruction of the tick.

Certain counties in Mississippi still in quarantine because of the tick's devastations are losing annually not less than three million dollars. This estimate is based on the number of cattle that these counties are capable of producing. They stand in marked contrast to the other counties already mentioned where the total increased valuation of the free cattle was over two million dollars. Yet the estimate for the complete eradication of the pest from the infected counties and the saving of this annual loss of three millions has been placed by experts at only $55,000.

In addition to the actual profit gained by the improvement of the cattle stock, there is a great increase to be obtained in the average production of corn, cotton, and every other crop by a restoration to the soil of fertility in the form of manure. This is another very important reason why the south will profit by devoting its energies to eradicating the tick, and thus increase the yearly output of cattle.

According to the specialists, tick eradication is of such vital importance to every one of the southern states that no let up should be made until the complete destruction of every tick is accomplished. As soon as each state succeeds in this it will be well on the way toward the successful development of its cattle-raising. A general campaign should bring as satisfactory results everywhere as it has in the Mississippi counties where the work has been thorough.

"THERE'S A REASON"

DELINQUENT HUSBAND

Will Think it Over at the House of Correction

Police court proved uneventful this morning with the exception of the case of John J. Harmon, charged with the non-support of his wife and two small children. Harmon was brought into court this morning on a capias.

The defendant was very strongly of the opinion that his wife's testimony was not strictly the truth and made no bones about saying so. His wife informed the court that he had not kept to his agreement with the probation officer which called for the contribution of $4.00 each week toward his family's support. Furthermore, stated the witness, he told her with vehemence that neither she nor any court in the land could extract money from his pocket to pay for his family's upkeep. Mrs. Harmon said that $2.75 is all she has received from her husband during the past six weeks.

"You have heard your wife's testimony now what have you to say?" asked Judge Knight of the defendant. "Your Honor, she is dead wrong," answered Harmon as he pointed an accusing finger at the court. "I pay her money whenever I get it." "Put down that finger," commanded the judge. "Mr. Clerk, revoke this man's previous suspension and send him to the house of correction for five months."

Patrick Sullivan and C. F. McNis each received a fine of $5 for drunkenness this morning. Both offenders were given a week's probation with which to pay the tax. Thomas F. McNeil was placed on probation for the term of six months. His wife appeared and asked the court to give her husband another trial.

The case of Morris Steloff, charged with threatening Israel Nannia, was again continued upon petition of Benjamin Maloney, Esq., counsel for the defense. The case will be heard one week from today. There were three releases by the probation officer.

GIRL'S STORY AT DIGGS TRIAL

Miss Warrington Tells of Her Relations With Alleged Slaver

Traces Developments and Trip in Pullman Car to Reno

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—A court room crowded from the railings to the doors sat in hushed expectancy yesterday while Marsha Warrington pleaded her way slowly to the witness stand. It was the climax of the case which the government is presenting against Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, who is accused under the Mann act of transporting the girl for immoral purposes to Reno, Nev., from Sacramento, Cal., where he left his wife and babies.

Miss Warrington's story in beginning her testimony that she was 20 years old and lived with her father and stepmother. Her mother had died when she was 5 years old.

"I have known Maury I. Diggs since last September, and we were very close friends," she continued. "Two weeks before we left for Reno in his machine, he told me that there was a scandal about to be published about the four of us, and that we would have to leave town. I was surprised, but he said we would have to go."

"Miss Norris was told, and Caminetti joined Diggs in urging that we leave immediately. They told us that we would be arrested and subjected to the third degree."

"Did you know that Diggs and Caminetti were married at that time?"

"Yes, and Miss Norris knew it, too. Diggs told me his relations with his wife were unpleasant; that he was unhappy and wanted to leave town. He said he had affection for me—cared for me more than he did for his wife. I believed him. He manifested affection for me; he kissed me; discussed marriage with me and said he would get a divorce and marry me. Caminetti told Lola the same thing."

"Did you have any affection for him?"

"Yes, I had a strong affection for him. We discussed leaving town together several times, when the four of us were on automobile trips and in Diggs' office. The men told us Diggs' father and Caminetti's father were going to prosecute us."

"I said I couldn't go. I said I couldn't go away from father; that it would kill him. Diggs said it would all come out in the papers any way and that my father would know sooner or later and that we had better go."

"Miss Norris told him it would kill her mother, and Caminetti and Diggs told us that our parents would soon get over it. They kept urging us to go immediately."

"On Saturday, March 8, Diggs returned from San Francisco from a business trip. He called Lola, Caminetti and me to a cafe, told us his father was coming up from Berkeley the following Monday to put Caminetti in jail and have us prosecuted. He said that he had cleared up his business and that we would have to leave right away. We protested, but after three or four hours consented to go."

"The next day we met again and the men finally decided on Reno, after considering Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. We tried to back out. We said we would just as soon stay and take chances on the scandal. They told us we couldn't back out."

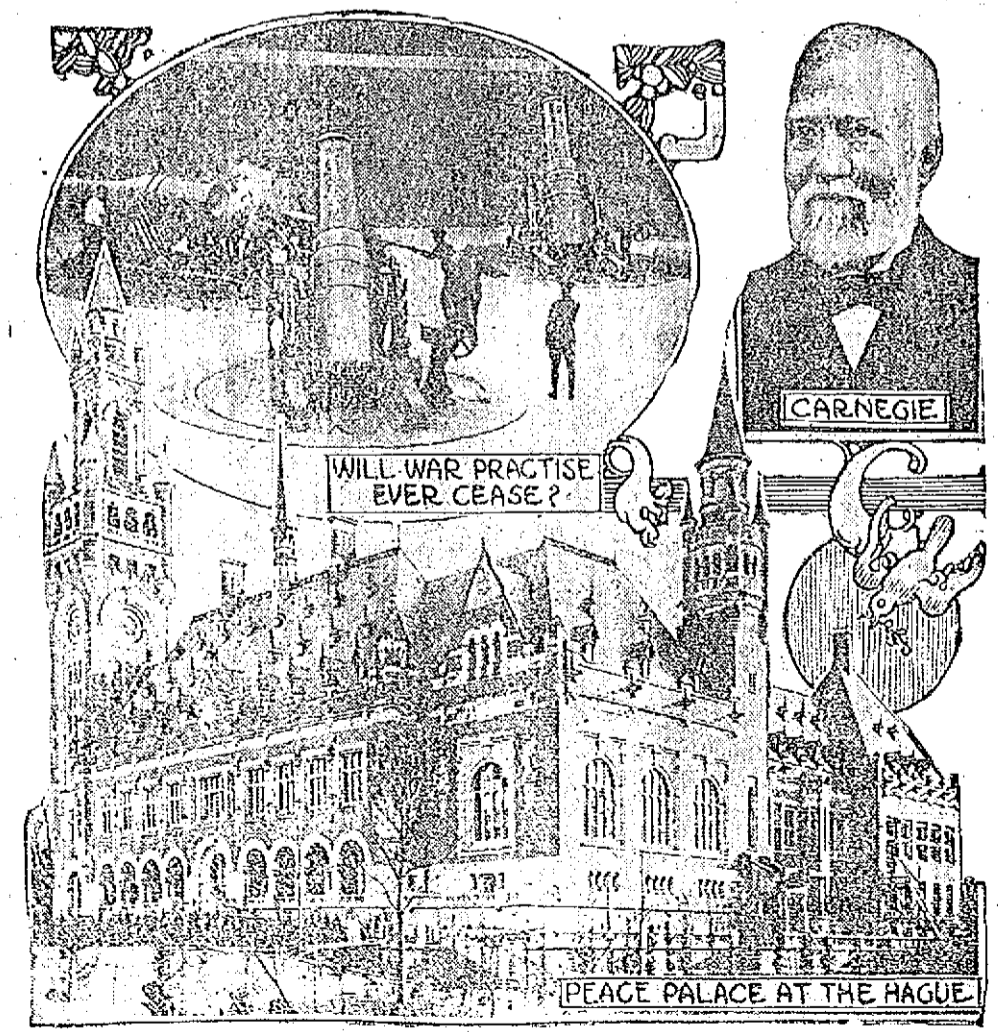

"Caminetti didn't come with the money in time and we missed the first train. Later we met him at the cafe and at midnight went to the station again. When we got there Diggs told us to wait where we were and he went over and bought four tickets."

"We got into a Pullman car and Diggs engaged a drawing room. He paid the Pullman conductor. I saw him give the railroad conductor the tickets for our trip to Reno. Miss Norris and Caminetti took the upper berth and Diggs and I had the lower."

"We arrived at Reno the next day—the 10th—at about noon and went to a cafe for something to eat."

At this point the court adjourned until today.

UNIVERSAL PEACE ADVOCATES ASSEMBLE AT THE HAGUE TO OPEN PEACE PALACE

THE HAGUE, Aug. 12.—Peace advocates from all parts of the world assembled here for the twentieth universal peace congress, scheduled to take place at the new peace palace here Aug. 12-23, inclusive. "Since 1889 this congress has met yearly in one of the larger towns of Europe and America. Among the later congresses, those of 1905 at Lucerne, of 1906 at Milan, of 1908 in London, and of 1910 at Stockholm may be cited as having been especially successful as well with regard to the work of the congress itself as to the kind of hospitality with which the members were received. From the moment that the opening of the peace palace was fixed for 1913, a year in which the Dutch are making their country as attractive as possible, from that moment the idea took root that the twentieth universal peace congress in 1913 should be held at The Hague. The peace palace is the embodiment of the idea which gave birth to the peace congresses, and it is the conviction that The Hague is the royal residence of that "favored country," as Holland may be called with regard to international law, which made Stead proclaim The Hague, the capital of the world and which made Mr. Carnegie choose it as the spot where the peace palace was to be erected. This year's congress will be under the high patronage of his royal highness, Prince Henry of the Netherlands, Duke of Mecklenburg.

that he has made a most serious mistake. His methods are typical of some reformers and the results to obtain much like them. The ever popular Pathé Weekly is on the bill and a new John Bunny comedy also.

Merrimack Square Theatre Players. That the Merrimack Square Theatre Players bid to be one of the most popular stock companies Lowell ever had is readily attested by the advance sale at the box office this week. Seats are now selling for all performances one week in advance and already it has far out reached all expectations for the current play which is a dramatization by Grace Howard of Geo. Barr McCutcheon's romance "Graustark."

In it Grace Young as the princess who is followed to the land over which she rules by a dashing young American and there falls in love with him is per excellence. All the other members of the company have been cast to advantage, too. The scenic embellishments are worthy of commendation, for they are all that could be desired. The latest motion picture plays are also run from 1 until the first act of the play which is two in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening. The subscription list is now open. Just put your name on it and become your own ticket for a week and a half. Next week Bronson Howard's famous society play "Aristocracy" is underlined.

Lakeview Park. Clean and wholesome amusement for old and young and plenty of it is the motto of the management of Lakeview park and new features every week are offered its patrons who evince their appreciation of the excellent list of attractions to be found at this popular resort by attending the park every day in large crowds. For the extra special outdoor attraction this week the management has engaged the Holman Bros. an exceptionally clever team of comedy bar performers. The Holman Bros. appear on the outdoor stage every afternoon and evening of the week. At the theatre new and up-to-date pictures are being shown. These performances are also given afternoon and evening and all seats are free. Thursday night will be boat night, a popular semi-weekly event that has proven a big feature this summer. There is dancing every afternoon and evening, bowling, boating and bathing, as well as the ever popular roller coaster and merry-go-round. Next week another big list of special features is being arranged for among the number being the boat and canoe races that are scheduled for Thursday afternoon. Entries for this race are being taken at the Lakeview boat house and the prizes are displayed in Kittredge's window on Central street.

MATRIMONIAL. The marriage of Mr. James J. Flanagan, a former member of the city government, and Miss Mary Genevieve Curtin, was solemnized last night at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, the officiating clergyman being Rev. George H. Flanagan of Taunton, a cousin of the bridegroom. The couple were attended by Miss Catherine Curtin and Mr. John McCaffrey, who acted as bridesmaid and best man respectively. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 39 Abbott street, which was attended by a large number of friends present from Taunton, Boston, Cambridge and other places. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan left on an extended wedding trip through the White mountains. On their return they will live at 21 Viola street and will be at home after October 1. No cards.

ROY-GIGUERE. At St. Louis church yesterday afternoon Mr. A. L. Roy, merchant of Providence, R. I., and Miss Severina Giguere of this city were united in marriage, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Desmarais. The witnesses were Messrs. Philippe Giguere and Arthur Demers. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 102 Allen avenue. The couple will make their home in Providence.

SCOLLAN-WELCH. A very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. John's rectory, North Chelmsford, when Michael J. Scollan and Miss E. Lillian Welch were united in marriage by Rev. E. T. Schenckel.

The bridesmaid was Miss Rena K. Welch, a sister of the bride, while the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. John Gill of Lowell. The bride was accompanied in a gown of baby blue tulle, with white muslin and white trimmings. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridesmaid looked pretty in a dress of pink marquisette with mermaid trimmings of the same color and wore a blue picture hat with pink trimmings. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. The bride's gift was a ring, while the best man was the recipient of a pair of cuff links.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, corner Middlesex and Church streets. There were guests present from Worcester, Lynn, Boston and Lowell. A wedding supper was served at 6.30, after which an excellent program was carried out. The bridal couple departed on the 9.50 train after receiving a great send-off from the guests present.

They received many beautiful and useful gifts, a special room being used
